LAST HOPE OF SAVING SUBMARINE CREW FADES

HARDINGS REST IN NEW TOMB

FRIGID GALES SEND RESCUE VESSELS BACK

Final Gesture of Futility: Had Hoped To Get Oxygen to Men

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

Six Entombed on Ocean Floor Cannot Live After Tonight, Is Belief

By International News Service

Frigid Gales

The last fragile hope of getting life-giving air to the six entombed men aboard the sunken submarine S-4, faded before noon today when a fresh broadside of frigid northern gales swept down over the spot where rescue ships were huddled, sending them into port for shelter at Provincetown, Mass.

It was the final gesture of the futility which Navy officials have been reluctant to voice—the impossibility of getting oxygen tanks to the entrapped men before 6 o'clock tonight, the limit of their endurance.

Throughout the night and early today the rescue ships had tossed and pitched over the spot where the S-4 lies in a hundred feet of icy water, awaiting the slightest break in the storm that would permit divers to go below.

"Is There Any Hope?"

How that break been theirs, the rescuers were prepared to descend into the ooze of the ocean floor, there to clear out the mud-choked torpedo tube and attempt the hazardous task of forcing oxygen food and gas neutralizers to the six men gasping out their lives in the bitterly cold darkness of the torpedo room.

"Is there any hope?" was the last message tapped out by those within the room.

The surrender of the men above them who were compelled to seek the harbor today before the fury of the storm, stands in mute reply.

Even should the elements subside later in the day, the work ahead of the

Report Shows Increase of 1,653 Over Total Sold During 1926

$71,404.69 COLLECTED

State and County Share Revenue; City Receives $23,203.65 from Funds

Licenses for 12,267 motor vehicles were issued in Marion County this year, an increase of 1,653 over the total for 1926, a summary compiled by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas showed today.

The license sales for this year brought in total revenue of $71,404.69, all of which went to the state, county and municipal road and street maintenance funds.

Of this amount, the state received $35,067.82 and $35,726.77 was retained for road and street maintenance and repairs in Marion County.

This means that automobile and truck owners contributed approximately $116,000 in license fees and special taxes for upkeep of public thoroughfares in the county during the year, the county's share of the gasoline tax distribution having been in the neighborhood of $80,000. In addition autoists paid many thousands of dollars in personal property taxes on their machines.

Money from gasoline tax as well as license sales is used exclusively for maintenance of public thoroughfares.

1926 Sales

License sales in 1926 yielded Marion County taxing districts $60,892.08, or $10,512.61 less than this year's total.

The record indicates that 1927 was an exceptionally prosperous year for

MOTHER PROTESTS SON'S INNOCENCE

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 20—"It's a terrible mistake. My boy never could have done a thing like that."

Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, for whom a search is being made in Los Angeles in connection with the Marion Parker case, protested her son's innocence here today.

Mrs. Hickman and her daughter, Mary, 15, appeared bewildered but not greatly worried when told by International News Service her son had been named as the perpetrator of one of the most brutal murders in police annals.

NEW DISEASE BLAMED FOR BANKRUPTCY

Oorang Kennels Co., LaRue, Files Voluntary Petition; Prominent Stockholders

The Oorang Kennels Co. of LaRue has suspended operations and gone into bankruptcy, ending one of the most unusual business enterprises in the history of Marion County.

The company, which developed a business ranking at one time as probably the largest of its kind in the country, went on the rocks chiefly as the result of the Airedale dogs in which it specialized becoming infected with a new and devastating disease known as "running fits," it was stated today.

The disease developed at the Oorang kennels about a year ago and made such disastrous progress before it was finally checked that it brought ruin to the business. Other factors figured in the downward trend which finally ended in the bankruptcy court, but ravages of the disease is assigned as the chief cause.

Noted Stockholders

Stockholders of the company, which had an authorized capitalization of $100,000 include many persons of nation-wide prominence, especially in sports circles. A list of the stockholders made public recently included such notables as Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb, baseball stars, Charley Paddock, the world's greatest 100-yard sprinter,

WOMAN SOUGHT AS ACCOMPLICE OF KIDNAPER

Former Bank Messenger Pointed Out by Filling Station Employe

BELIEVE REVENGE MOTIVE

Say Fingerprints of Youth Tally with Those of Murderer

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 20—"Find the woman!" This was the word broadcast by police here today as they sought a woman and another expected accomplice of William Edward Hickman, discharged bank messenger and identified as the kidnaper and killer of little Marion Parker.

Los Angeles, Dec. 20—"The Fox," murderer of little Marion Parker, still is in Los Angeles!

At 4:25 o'clock this morning the kidnaper-slayer, police are positive, was within 50 yards of the central police station.

This startling information was supplied by Jack Ward, a filling station attendant, who supplied "The Fox" with gasoline and then pursued him a dozen blocks.

Ward identified the man he had vainly sought to capture as William Edward Hickman, 18-year-old former bank messenger whom the police earlier had declared to be the murderer of the Parker girl.

For the car in which the youth kidnaped Marian Parker, and from which he later tossed her mutilated, dismembered body was found to have been stolen in Kansas City and driven to Los Angeles.

Doubt Fugitive Is Man

Hickman's mother lives at 3524 Euclid-av, Kansas City. He also has an uncle, J. B. Hickman in Tulsa, Okla., and an aunt, Mrs. Tom Lewis of North Hartford, Ark., where the boy was born. Police in each of these cities have been asked to keep closely in touch with young Hickman's relatives, in the belief that the fugitive youth, hunted through the nation may return to some blood kin for aid.

Last night a man leaped from the brakebeams of a Southern Pacific train near Saugus, under a heavy pistol fire by police officers. He made his escape in dense brush, officers expressing the belief that he may have been wounded.

But those who have studied the crime doubted if the fugitive was the man sought. All indications point to the criminal pursuing the even tenor of his ways in this city, laughing up his sleeve at the fruitless efforts to apprehend him.

The mask was torn from the identity of the ruthless killer of little Marion Parker when police announced they were seeking William Edward Hickman, 18, former bank messenger, who was discharged from the institution where the little girl's father is a trusted official.

Believe Revenge Motive

The startling disclosure was made by Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and Chief Deputy District Attorney Harold L. Davis, who directly declared the fugitive youth had been identified as the

Mrs. Burnett testified at the Purnell trial at Benton Harbor several months ago.

Little King Michael Set to Greet Old Santa Claus

PARIS, Dec. 20—Little King Michael of Roumania, aged six, believes in Santa Claus—the same Santa Claus who climbs down the chimneys into the peasants' huts. His father, former Crown Prince Carol, knows all about this so he has made a special arrangement with the jolly old gift-giver by which Michael is sure to receive a camera, a handsome little writing set and other toys, not forgetting candy and oranges and nuts.

Prince Carol favors toys of practical and educational value for his son. And Michael has not had to wait until Christmas to get anything he wants. That is one of the advantages of being king, even if one is only six years old.

Michael already has a pony, a bicycle, a miniature automobile operated with the feet, an electric train and several toy automobiles. After Colonel Lindbergh's famous flight to Paris last summer, Carol sent several miniature airplanes—modeled after "The Spirit of St. Louis"—to Bucharest.

Warner Goes to Kansas City to Arrange Headquarters for Ohio G. O. P. Delegation

State Chairman Predicts That 300 Republicans Will Join Buckeye Trek to Convention City; Expects Fess To Be Named Chairman

With a view to arranging hotel accommodations and completing plans for the special train for Ohio's delegation to the Republican national convention, Fred W. Warner, this city, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, left late last night for Kansas City, where the convention will be held June 12.

It has been definitely decided to start the special train bearing Ohio delegates at Cleveland with a stop at Columbus. The special will operate over the Big Four line to St. Louis.

Will Arrange Trip

The trip from St. Louis to Kansas City will be arranged by Mr. Warner during his stay at the latter city.

Belief was expressed by the Republican chairman that from 300 to 400 Republicans from Ohio will be aboard the special when it leaves for the convention city.

United States Senator Simeon D. Fess, Yellow Springs, probably will head the delegation from Ohio, Mr. Warner said. The leader is to be elected when the delegation assembles.

Back of Willis

Referring to the candidacy of United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Delaware, Chairman Warner declared Ohio to be very favorable to Willis and that there is little doubt but that Willis can obtain the solid support of the Ohio group at the convention.

Expressing the belief that several other men in addition to Senators Willis of Ohio and Curtis of Kansas will seek the Republican nomination Chairman Warner said that if the battle simmered down to these two men Willis undoubtedly will be nominated.

Criticizes Party Plan

The principal reason the really big men in the Republican party hesitate to seek office, Warner said, is the discarding ballyhoo plan adopted by the party.

"Hughes has indicated that he will not enter the race," Warner pointed out. "I firmly believe that the party's convention system had something to do with his decision. At least, that appears to be the opinion of party leaders."

Herbert Hoover and Governor Lowden are expected to toss their hats into the ring. Everything points to a very interesting time at the convention.

Without Ohio Support

Hoover doesn't have a strong following in Ohio, Warner said. Ohio Republicans feel that they do not know Hoover's politics since he came in political prominence during the administration of President Wilson.

If Hughes should enter the field and the support slip away from Willis it would be an easy matter to swing the Willis deserters to Hughes in the opinion of Chairman Warner. If, on the other hand, there is a set-up for Hoover, he undoubtedly will be the popular candidate.

BODIES MOVED FROM VAULT TO MEMORIAL

Truck Used To Transfer 5,000-Pound Sarcophagi to Marble Structure

BURIAL SET WEDNESDAY

Only Relatives and Close Friends Invited To Attend Services

The stately marble mausoleum built to serve as the last resting place for President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding received its dead today.

Removal of the bodies to the tomb from the Marion Cemetery receiving vault was completed at 11 o'clock this morning, when the second of the two caskets was lowered into the sepulchre at the center of the beautiful marble structure.

Three hours were required for transfer of the massive sarcophagi in which the bodies of President and Mrs. Harding rest. Mrs. Harding's casket was the first to be removed. Both are now in place on the interior of the sepulchre awaiting entombment ceremonies to be held at 12 o'clock noon, Wednesday.

Guard Transferred

The sepulchre will remain uncovered, underguard of soldiers from the U. S. Army detachment on duty at the tomb until after the ceremonies. The guard was transferred to the tomb this morning immediately following transfer of the bodies.

Coverings for the sepulchre will consist first of a huge concrete lid, over which will be placed marble layers having a total weight of approximately 15 tons. Work of closing and sealing the sepulchre will begin immediately after the entombment ceremonies, it was stated today.

Moving of the caskets today was under supervision of C. H. Prueniger, superintendent for the E. Elford & Son, the Columbus firm which has the general contract for construction of the memorial tomb.

Truck Used

A force of eight men and special motor truck equipment were used, the truck, from the Merchants Transfer Co., being provided with an automatic hoist for lifting the caskets, each weighing 5,000 pounds.

An incline constructed of heavy planks was placed at the Marion Cemetery vault leading to the truck and the caskets were moved over this pathway on wooden rollers.

The motor conveyance then moved to the memorial tomb where inclines of massive planks and beams had been installed. Over these inclines the huge caskets were taken to a temporary platform built above the steps at the entrance of the tomb and from there lowered into the sepulchre.

It will be President Calles' first airplane ride, and of it he has grimly joked to Lindbergh:

Trial Jurors Barred From Returning Remus Straight Acquittal By Last Charge

Deliberations in Cincinnati Murder Start Directly After Lunch Hour; Insanity Verdict Best Defendant Can Hope for

Courthouse, Cincinnati, Dec. 20—George Remus' case for the murder of his wife Imogene, went to the jury at 12.40 p. m. this afternoon.

Six of the jurors wore sprigs of Christmas holly, as, with solemn faces, they retired to the jury room to deliberate.

Judge Chester R. Shook, in instructing the jury just before they filed out, eliminated the straight "not guilty" verdict from the various forms of verdicts, he told them they might return.

Unfair, Remus Opinion

It was a ruling said to be without a parallel in the history of American courts. Remus, his head bowed in his hands, said it had deprived him of his constitutional right to a fair and impartial trial.

The judge told them they could return any one of the following verdicts: first degree murder, first degree murder with mercy, second degree murder, manslaughter and not guilty on the sole ground of insanity. There must be no straight "not guilty" verdict. That means the best Remus can hope for is the not guilty on the sole ground of insanity verdict. This would force him to go before probate court and prove that he is sane. If he could not he would have to go to a hospital for the criminal insane.

SEVEN POLICEMEN SEIZE VIOLATOR OF PAROLE

He vowed he would never go back to prison alive, according to reports reaching here. Three revolvers and a set of burglar's tools were found in his room, according to police.

GOVERNMENT SCORES IN CONTEMPT TRIAL

Kidwell Points Out Two Members of Burns' Agency Force

Washington, Dec. 20—The government scored today in its efforts at the Burns-Sinclair contempt trial to show that certain members of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial jury were conscious of being spied upon by Burns detectives.

Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and four associates are on trial for maintaining an alleged improper surveillance over the jurors.

Edward J. Kidwell, juror, whose alleged loose-talking was partially responsible for the Fall-Sinclair mistrial, testified that John Kline, an operative, "came within a foot of me" in a near beer saloon, and that D. E. Merritt, another detective, had followed him.

BLAME JEALOUSY FOR MURDER AND SUICIDE

Husband Shoots Wife and Then Takes His Own Life

Columbus, Dec. 20— A husband's jealousy was the reason assigned by police today for a murder and suicide in a downtown hotel room here this morning.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning guests in adjoining rooms heard six shots from a room in which a man and woman, registered as Joe Wandling and wife, of Logan, Ohio, had entered earlier in the evening.

On gaining entrance to the room they found the bodies of the two lying on the bed. Three shots had entered the woman's body and three others had been fired by the man into his own breast, directly above the heart.

A checkup this morning revealed that the man is Joe Wandling, 50, a laborer, of Union Furnace, a village near Logan, Ohio and the woman his wife, Gladys, 30. They have one child, a two-year-old daughter who is in the custody of the man's relatives.

The two had had trouble, according to police, and separated some time ago. Later, however, they effected a reconciliation. The man had evidently planned the act, as a letter in his clothing, addressed to his mother, advised her that "this is the only way out," and requested her to "take care of Betty Jane," the daughter.

NORTHERN OHIO IS SNOWBOUND TODAY

Several Injured in Cleveland While Planes Are Forced Down.

Cleveland, Dec. 20—With Cleveland and northern Ohio snowbound in some sections, a check-up today disclosed several injured as a result of the heavy snow-fall during the last two days.

William Bower, 35, Cleveland street railway conductor, was struck by an auto early this morning while preparing to throw a switch for a snow plow. His skull was fractured.

James McNamara, 60, and Willis Gallagher, 29, were seriously injured when their auto was struck by a street car. The men were still unconscious early today.

Air mail schedules were disrupted, two planes on the newly-established Cleveland-Buffalo route being forced down Monday near Dunkirk, N. Y., in a blinding snowstorm and 44-mile gale. Railroad and traction schedules also were affected by the heavy fall of snow.

An Ashtabula, Cleveland, Conneaut bus arrived here two hours late last night after battling four-foot drifts near Painesville, Ohio.

Hammer Knocks Reveal Horror of Six Men Entombed in Sub; Oscillator Tells Tale

BOSTON, Dec. 20—Hammer knocks have revealed the horror of the six brave naval men entombed within the steel hulk of the submarine S-4 off Provincetown.

The submarine signalling device, known as the oscillator, has been used to exchange messages between the S-4 and submarine S-8, according to word reaching the local navy yard today.

"How are you feeling down there," asked the talking hammers of the S-8.

"As good as could be expected under the circumstances," came the reply from 102 feet below.

"How's your courage holding out?"

"Great."

"How's your air?"

"Not very good. We are troubled with chloride gas from the batteries. We would like something to neutralize it."

"How long before you will be able to get us," queried the stacco blows from the S-4.

"We are doing everything possible."

"How many of you left?" asked the S-8.

"Six."

"What became of the others?"

"All dead."

"Is there hope?" beat another message from the crushed undersea boat, and the rolling sea and the high wind gave its own answer:

"No."

Marion Man Once Mess Mate of Officer Aboard Ill-Fated Submarine in Crash

Lieutenant McGinley, one of those who went down in the ill-fated submarine S4 off the coast of Provincetown, Mass., Saturday afternoon after being rammed by the coast guard cutter, Paulding, was a mess mate and acquaintance of J. R. Edwards, of this city, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Edwards, who is part owner of the Glass Mineral vapor bath establishment on S. Prospect-st and who had spent a number of years in the United States navy, yesterday said that he had known Lieutenant McGinley at the navy yard at San Diego, Cal., a submarine base, in 1925.

At that time, Mr. Edwards said, he was on the submarine tender, Argonne, the mother ship of the S submarines and Lieutenant McGinley and other members of the crew of the S4 spent their time while not cruising aboard the Argonne.

"Members of the submarine crews never stay on their boat only when they are working," Mr. Edwards said, "and as the officers and crew spent each night and many days on board the Argonne, I became well acquainted with Lieutenant McGinley."

Mr. Edwards also said he believed he was acquainted with a member of the crew by the name of Jones, but he was not certain of the initials. The Argonne, he said, at the time he left, was preparing for a trip to the navy yard on the east coast to convoy a fleet of U boats to the west coast, a trip just recently finished.

WHEAT CROP NOT IN DANGER, IS BELIEF

Freezing and Thawing Not Considered Menace, Bureau Secretary Says

While there is some apprehension on the part of farmers in this locality for the wheat crop due to the freezing weather which has prevailed for the last few days, it is doubtful if any damage has been done, in the opinion of Roland L. Leeper, service manager of the Marion County Farm Bureau. While the present weather will not do the wheat any good, Leeper points out that the freezes in the spring are the ones that are particularly dangerous.

Wheat has had a fair start this fall and with a blanket of snow to protect it from the freezing weather will stand much lower temperatures than have been experienced so far this winter, it is said.

...Coolidge is said to have ...given assurance that he will sign a bill embodying the principles of the Curtis-Crisp measure, which eliminates the much-debated equalization fee.

Backers of the measure today advertised the fact that Representative Knutson, Republican of Minnesota and Representative McKeown, Democrat of Oklahoma, two strong supporters of the McNary-Haugen bill last year, had declared in favor of a compromise.

"There is little difference between my bill and the Jardine plan," said Representative Crisp, Democrat of Georgia, author of the House bill which was fathered in the Senate by Senator Curtis, Republican of Kansas.

"It sets up a government board and provides a revolving fund of $250,000,000. The board would have authority to loan money to holding companies, former by co-operatives, which would buy and store surpluses when it is found that products are being sold below cost of production."

FALLS TO DEATH

Marietta Man Drops from Ambulance Near Aetna

Columbus, Dec. 20—Funeral services for Maynard Rayley, 40, of Marietta, who was killed late yesterday when he fell from an ambulance west of Aetna, will be held Thursday, it was announced today.

The victim was blind and he fell from the rear end of the ambulance while throwing a piece of paper, which he had unwrapped from his lunch, from the rear door. His neck was broken and he died instantly. The ambulance came from Marietta yesterday morning, bringing Miss Clara Rayley, the deceased's sister, to a hospital here for treatment.

The brother accompanied her. It was on the return trip, on the National Highway, a mile west of Aetna, that the accident occurred. Rayley was well known in Marietta, having made brooms and sold newspapers on the streets there for many years. His body was taken to an undertaking house in Kirkersville and is to be returned to Marietta today.

ATTACKS RULING

Ohio Congressman Would Set Aside Action of Justice Holmes

Washington, Dec. 20—Congress was asked today to set aside the "stop, look, listen" rule laid down by the venerable Justice Oliver W. Holmes in the Goodman grade crossing damage case.

Justice Holmes ruled that an automobile driver goes on a railroad track virtually at his own risk. As a standard of law, he said, damages could not be collected unless it was shown that the driver stopped, looked, listened, and even got out of his car and went upon the track.

Representative Murphy, Republican of Ohio, introduced the restrictive bill. It provides that federal courts in such cases shall not adopt a rule contrary to the laws of the state, territory or place where the accident occurred.

A short circuit in the wiring was responsible for a $10 fire at the home of J. W. Eaton, 345 Pearlest at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Say Identification Positive h Davis and Cline declared that ification had been made positive mparison of young Hickman's fin- ints with fingerprints found on us articles connected with the ping and brutal murder of the ers' little daughter.

kman was employed at the Los les First National Bank at a sal- of $15 a week. He was directly r the orders of Marian Parker's r.

st June he confessed, police say, aving forged between 30 and 40 checks, declaring he wanted the y to buy a motorcycle. He was placed on probation by juvenile court authorities.

At the time, however, Parker was said to have been the only official of the bank who protested against probation for the youth. Other officers of the institution sought leniency on the ground that young Hickman was the sole support of a sister.

Never Forgave Parker

Hickman, according to police, never forgave Parker for his attitude, and throughout the months that followed, nursed a growing feeling of revenge. Unable to injure the banker directly, the brooding youth struck in horrible fashion at the father through a helpless child, according to the police theory.

The Hickman boy is a graduate of a Kansas City high school. After he received probation here, he returned to the Missouri community and in this one step he forged another link in the chain of evidence which police now say is thrown around him.

local automobile dealers, the increase in license sales being one of the largest in history.

The city of Marion led with 7,910 cars and the combined total of rural districts not included in any municipality came second with 3,345. Half of the license money from these township districts goes to the county road fund. Municipalities get half of the receipts from their sales and the other half goes to the state.

Figures Incorrect

The number of cars reported from various localities is not regarded by Auditor Thomas as absolutely accurate. Apparent discrepencies, he states, have probably resulted from owners of cars listing their taxing districts incorrectly. The total for the county is absolutely correct, however, and the distribution approximately accurate. A list of the taxing districts and the number of cars recorded for the year are as follows:

City of Marion, 7,916; Caledonia, 180; Green Camp, 110; LaRue, 303; Morral, 36; New Bloomington, 28; Prospect, 251; Waldo, 98; townships outside of municipalties, 3,345.

Distribution of the revenue was as follows:

City of Marion, $23,203.65; Caledonit, $593.97; Green Camp, $365.40; LaRue, $1,111.52; Morral, $102.65; New Bloomington, $74.05; Prospect, $793.88; Waldo, $294.65; county road fund, for licenses in townships, $9,187; state highway fund, $35,667.02.

Sale of 1927 license plates was brought to a close here about two weeks ago, when an official order went into effect requiring issuance of all licenses for the remainder of this year from state headquarters in Columbus.

LAST HOPE TO SAVE SEAMEN IS FADING

Frigid Northern Gales Send Rescue Ships Back to Safety of Port

divers only too willing to risk their lives will take precious hours—and if the divers succeed in getting the life-sustaining supplies into the torpedo tube, the suffocating six may not have the strength to open the tube from within. The most optmistic were given almost to despair at the latest turn of the battle and only a near miracle will preserve the lives of the heroic six, naval experts now believe.

As the fleet of ships fought their way back into the harbor, temporarily beaten by the furious gale, Admiral Brumby declared that weather observations forecast no relief from the storm until Wednesday.

Some experts have given the men until tomorrow morning to live, but others have set 6 o'clock tonight as the zero hour.

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 20—Hope rode out toward the distant horizon astride a lashing gale as six men gasped for breath in the corpse-strewn darkness of the torpedo room of the sunken S-4.

Once there were 40—now there are six—at 6 o'clock tonight there will be none alive unless a near miracle occurs.

This hour was set by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, of the first naval district, as the latest time that life might be sustained aboard by the entrapped crew. Seventy-two hours will then have elapsed since the S-4 was rammed by the cast guard cutter Paulding and clipped to the bottom of the harbor here.

The last message from the tomb of navy steel was a pitiful plea for a word of encouragement.

"Is there any hope?"

The message was sent from the chamber of horror by one of the living six through oscillation communication with the S-8, sister-ship of the stricken submarine. The answer: "There is hope—everything possible is being done."

Hope!

Chafe in Idleness

Perhaps the Navy lied like officers and comrades. For even while the reply was skimming a ray of light into the grave within a grave, 500 men of the rescue fleet chafed in dileness under the fury of the elements.

But the navy is ready today to dive between the teeth of the death-mask set by the storm. At the slightest lull in the wind, divers are prepared to risk destruction themselves in an effort to force oxygen, food and water into the hull of the S-4.

Every member of the score or more of divers has volunteered for the task. Some experts consider that it is suicide with the sea pounding as it was this morning.

A special drum containing oxygen has been constructed. If the divers can be lowered down to the bottom and keep their airlines from fouling they will attempt to open the outer door of the S-4 torpedo tube and insert the drum. The men within—if they are strong enough—may then open the interior door of the tube and draw in the precious tank of air.

Dangerous Any Time

Under favorable conditions, such an operation conducted 102 feet below the ocean's surface is a delicate, dangerous task. The pressure of the water is tremendous and once the outer torpedo tube door is opened, the inner door may burst under the pressure, and the drum also may be unable to withstand the weight of water.

But it is the last chance—and the boys asked for air.

"We have used our last bottle of oxygen," they pleaded.

However, the air within the torpedo chamber, a compartment 18 feet wide, 36 feet long, and 14 feet deep, is expected by experts to sustain the lives of the surviving six until tonight.

"It is a fair estimate that the supply of oxygen will maintain life until 6 o'clock tonight," said Admiral Andrews.

The pontoons on which great hopes of success had rested, are at the rescue scene. They were towed on their errand of mercy from the Brooklyn Navy Yard—huge, air-filled cylinder drums.

Won't Dare Waves

Apparently they have arrived too late. It would take several days, even if the weather permitted, to ease them into position to raise the crippled submarine, according to Lieut. Commander E. Ellsberg, salvage genius.

A high-powered wind, with snow and sleet, was predicted for this afternoon. Veteran fishermen have refused to risk the churning seas even in their sturdy boats to carry newspapermen to and from the fleet. A few hardy pilots are making small fortunes in daring the trip.

The red buoy which marks the graveyard of the S-4 beneath is rocking rythmically on the surface. It is like a bell without a tongue tolling a soundless dirge.

Sea gulls, clouds of them, hover ominously overhead the scene.

At 6 o'clock tonight the navy will blow taps—or win a great battle of the sea.

FINAL RELEASE IS GRANTED PRISONER

J. P. Martin's Case in Group of 157 Receiving Favorable Action

Final release was granted to one prisoner from Marion County and parole dates set for two by the state board of clemency which took favorable action on 157 applications filed in behalf of Ohio reformatory prisoners yesterday.

J. P. Martin, sent to the reformatory at Mansfield on June 29, 1925 following his plea of guilty in common pleas court to a forgery charge, was given immediate and final release. Martin, given a term of from one to 20 years, was accused of having cashed a check to which he had forged the name of a fellow-roomer at a local lodging house. His home is reported to be in Mt. Vernon.

Merle Matteson, given an indeterminate sentence on a charge of rape, was granted a parole effective Jan. 11. He was sentenced to the reformatory by Judge McNeal of the juvenile court on Oct. 28, 1926. Matteson had been picked up by local police while he was travelling about the country in company with a 15-year-old girl. Both said that their homes were in Warsow, N. Y. Matteson was sentenced following his plea of guilty.

Albert Morrow, given an indeterminate sentence in the court of common pleas on a charge of auto stealing, will be paroled Feb. 14. He was sentenced after pleading guilty on Jan. 17. Morrow was arrested in Galion where he was said to have been found driving an automobile stolen here. He pleaded guilty.

Jay Hampson of Hardin County, serving time for burglary and larceny, was granted an immediate release. Wilbur Obenour, another Hardin County man imprisoned on the same charge, will be paroled March 1.

Funeral services for Mrs. Vida E. Edwin L. Weaterwax, has been pastor for 18 months. Reverend Weatherwax was formerly pastor of Calvary Evangelical Church and with his wife resided here, leaving about 15 years ago.

During her residence here Mrs. Weatherwax taught a Bible class of 125, said to have been the largest women's evangelical class in the United States.

BLAME DISEASE FOR FAILURE OF KENNELS

Oorang Company at LaRue Files Voluntary Petition in Bankruptcy

Nick Altrock, baseball's premier comedian and Horace Lytell, prominent fiction writer.

Walter Lingo, founder of the business, was president and general manager when it suspended operations. The voluntary petition in bakruptcy was filed by him through C. C. Fisher, local attorney, in federal court at Toledo.

Liquidating Plans

Announcement of plans for liquidating the affairs of the company was made today by H. B. Hill, who was appointed trustee Saturday by H. D. Grindle, referee in bankruptcy. The bankruptcy proceedings will be handled by Mr. Hill and his attorney, John H. Clark.

The property at LaRue, which includes the land, buildings, equipment and stock, which had dwindled own to 18 Airedale dogs, is to be appraised this week and arrangements for sale will be made shortly afterward. Mr. Hill said that he was unable to state at this time whether the assets would be disposed of separately or sold as a whole to persons intending to resume operation of the business. Assets are placed at, $13,000 and liabilities at $60,000.

The appraisers are H. A. Hoopes, John Markey and Oliver Shirk. Mr. Hill was named as truster by vote of the creditors, who met here Saturday with Referee Grindle.

The story of the Oorang Kennels Co. and its development from a small beginning 26 years ago, reads like a romance in commercial enterprise.

When at the peak of its development, the company had virtually a world-wide market, its fine Airedale dogs being shipped to all parts of the United States and many foreign countries. Visitors came from far and wide to view the kennels at LaRue, regarded as one of the most complete plants of the kind in the country.

During its best years, the company's sales were reported to have averaged between 9,000 and 10,000 dogs annually. The highest mark was one year in which 17,000 were marketed.

The company's advertising program was extensive, one year's expenditures for this purpose having totaled $10,000, it is reported.

Walter Lingo, the founder, became interested in the breeding and sale of dogs more than a quarter of a century ago. It was not until about nine years ago, however, that he started the organization which was destined to develop to such remarkable proportions.

Develops New Breed

An expert in this line of endeavor, Lingo after a long period of experimenting, developed an entirely new type of dog by interbreeding the Airedale, Doberman and American fox-hound strains. This new dog, finally established on a permanent basis, was named the Lingorue, a combination of the Oorang manager's name and LaRue.

Lingo and his associates expected to make the Lingorue a special product of the Oorang kennels and were on the way to building up extensive sales when the epidemic of "running fits" and other unforeseen developments interferred with the plans.

Expert veterinarians throughout the country are baffled by this new disease, it was stated today. Efforts to ascertain the origin and effect a cure are reported to have met only with failure thus far.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE ON TRAFFIC LIGHT

Safety Director Says No Action Will Be Taken Before Body Meets

That no action to install a traffic light at the intersection of Main and Center-sts to replace the light wrecked by a C., D. & M. interurban car Saturday night, will be taken until after the next meeting of city council was announced by Safety Director Strayer today.

That the overhead type would be used to replace the pedestal light, has become practically an assured fact, both for the reason that it is now impossible to obtain repairs for the pedestal light in use here, and the increasing demand for the overhead light that is being made by motorists as well as citizens in general.

Should the overhead light be installed it is probable that the pedestal lights will be moved to busy intersections in other parts of the city where the traffic is not so heavy as in the uptown district. The intersections of S. Prospect-st and Bellefontaine-av and W. Center and Davids-st have been suggested as places where traffic lights are badly needed.

The light at Center and Main-sts was shoved from the pedestal by a C., D. & M. car Saturday night when a defective switch caused the front wheels of the car to travel west and the rear trucks to follow the Main-st tracks.

JUNIOR HIGH GIRLS TO PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAY

Eight ninth grade students of General Junior High School will present a one-act play, "Grandma's Christmas Guest" in a Christmas chapel program there Wednesday morning. The characters include Beulah Ault, Helen Lewis, Doris Staley, Margaret Moller, Carlon Hatcher, Harold Bowser, Kester Hill and Ilaver Alspach. Geraldine Everetts, chairman of the student program committee will preside in place of Mr. Alspach, president of the school.

RECOVER SEDAN

Police last night recovered a Buick sedan stolen from the street in Bucyrus Sunday night. The car was found on Barnhartst near the Erie tracks where, according to people living in the vicinity, it had served as sleeping quarters for the thief Sunday night. When no one appeared last night to occupy the machine, the police were notified. The car was taken back to Bucyrus by police from that city this morning.

SANTA LOSES NAME

St. Nicholas Unable to Locate Little Marion Girl

Somewhere in Marion there is a little girl who is going to be mightily disappointed and it really will be no one's fault, particularly not Santa Claus, to whom she confided her Christmas wish. This little girl, with hundreds of others talked to Santa Claus last Saturday afternoon at the Uhler-Phillips Co. Store, and when he asked what she wanted for Christmas, her one request was for a Bible, nothing else. Santa took her address but in the shuffle and confusion the slip of paper was lost and he has no way of getting in touch with her. Santa has asked that this little girl communicate with the Uhler Phillips Co., giving her name and address so he can bring her the gift.

ENTERTAINS POST

Civil War Veterans Are Dinner Guests of Daughters

About 25 members of Cooper Post, No. 117, Grand Army of the Republic were present at their annual Christmas party given by members of Harriet Beecher Stowe Tent No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans yesterday afternoon at Community Home, S. High-st. The regular business meeting of veterans was held after which a pleasant social time was enjoyed and lunch served. Mrs. H. A. McMurray contributed a vocal number, "Silent Night." The veterans were presented oranges and Christmas boxes of candy as favors, similar gifts to be distributed to those unable to be present at the party. The post will install officers in two weeks and the Tent Jan. 5, both meetings to be at Community Home.

URGE VETERANS TO ASK COMPENSATION

Red Cross Officials Will Assist Service Men in Filing Claims

With the time allowed World War veterans for filing their claims for government adjusted compensation nearing the closing date another statement was issued here today urging Marion County veterans who have neglected complying with requirements to act promptly. The filing time will expire Jan. 1, 1928.

Today's statement came from local Red Cross headquarters, where application blanks are available and the veterans may obtain assistance in making out their claims. Miss Mina Doughty, executive secretary of the Red Cross, says that approximately 500 applications have been made out at her office in the last two years.

In the last few weeks Miss Doughty says, only a small number of applications have been filed, although it is believed that there are many Marion County veterans who have not submitted their claims. Records show that 1,500 Marion County men served in the World War.

Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162 of the American Legion, is also assisting in the work of helping Marion County veterans in the adjusted compensation project. Charles Howard, service officer of the post, is in charge. He announced last week that he and all other Legion officers are prepared to furnish veterans with application blanks and to assist in preparing them for filing.

Bad Luck with Our Traffic Lights.

Without going into the relative merits of the various styles of electric traffic lights, we are beginning to lean to the view that those in use in our up-town business section are easily the most expensive. Two of them having been smashed up in the course of a few weeks and their pedestals broken, we can not get away from realization of the fact that signal lights to be comparatively safe must be placed where they can not be hit by traffic.

There is also the disadvantage in centrally-placed pedestal lights to which attention has been repeatedly called—they occupy valuable traffic space and thus hold up traffic. They may possess the virtue of dividing traffic and preventing, to some extent, head-on collisions, but this advantage, if possessed by them, is more than wiped out by the blocking of traffic which results from their use.

We do not pretend to know which light—pedestal, overhead or side—is best for the direction of traffic, which light is most convenient for observation by the motorist. We have heard the pedestal light commended for its visibility and objection made to the other two, but such champions are in the minority, and the experience of other cities rather goes to show, judging by the adoption in so many of them of some other style of signal, that the pedestal light is not adapted to a business street unless it be an unusually wide one.

Motorists are not expected to dash, head on, into traffic signals, nor are traffic lights expected to withstand the assault of an inter-urban car sideswiping them by going in two directions at the same time, but if they are so placed that they are beyond the reach of motorists it must be apparent that there is more guarantee of their permanency. In other words, they should be so located as not to be a menace to traffic should their lights be extinguished, and they should be as near fool-proof as possible.

We believe the authorities are wise in considering the replacing of the present traffic lights by some style out of the reach of motorists which will in no way lessen the traffic possibilities of our thoroughfares.

Horror Upon Horror.

When reading the Sunday paper accounts of the sinking of submarine S-4 by the Paulding, the afternoon before off Provincetown, Massachusetts, the thought was ours that no fate could be worse than that which had probably been met by her officers and crew, forty-three men having gone down with her. But horror was piled upon horror when Monday's wires told us that at least six men were alive in her torpedo room and that the condition of sea and air was such that hope of their rescue was dwindling.

The thought that the hull-imprisoned men had met quick deaths, as was at first deemed to be the case from the damage known to have been done to the S-4, was horrifying, but that at least six of her crew were still alive and lived on in the hope of rescue while the elements forced a suspension of attempts at rescue with the prospect that they must perish was simply sickening. The mind simply can not dwell on what must be the awfulness of the feeling of men suffering such a fate as that.

It seems to us that, two of our submarines having thus been sunk, some measures should be taken to prevent such accidents in time of peace, at least; that submarines no longer should be permitted to travel submerged so close to land, and especially so close to ports, near which there is considerable traffic by either coast patrol or commercial vessels; that when approaching a harbor or departing therefrom submarines should remain on the surface till such lines have been passed.

Accidents will occur to all kinds of vessels, whether surface or undersea — accidents against which no adequate provision can be made—but it seems to us that against such accidents as have caused the sinking of two submarines in almost identically the same way some adequate safeguard can be provided.

Sir Alfred Mond says there has been much more money put into gold mines than has ever been taken out of them. We can't say as to that, but Marion county has put $500,000 in real money into silver mines, which we have no hesitation in saying is half a million dollars more than has ever come back to the county from them.

The Airmen's Highest Honor.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has been recommended by President Porter Adams, of the National Aeronautic association, for the "grand gold medal" of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, the final authority on aircraft performances.

The medal, which is awarded by a majority vote of the delegates from the national associations of the twenty-nine countries represented in the international organization, of which the National association is one, is the highest honor at the hands of airmen attainable. The award will be made at the meeting of the international organization in Paris, the 5th of the coming month.

In his letter of recommendation, addressed to Paul Tissandier, secretary-general of the federation, President Adams cited the "Lone Eagle's" flights to Paris and to Mexico City, holding them not only the two outstanding aviation achievements of the year, but also two of the greatest flights in the entire history of aviation.

But, though Mr. Adams did not cite it, there's another achievement which in itself should cause his brother airmen to give the highest honor within their power to Lindbergh. By his flights and the wonderful impression he has made wherever he has gone—in fact, the world over—he has done more to popularize aviation and promote interest in its development than any score, any hundred, men who have every flown a plane. In this respect, he stands in a class by himself. Yet in his twenties, he has the respect, honor and esteem of the entire world and today is gladly given a regard and affectionate interest such as never before have been won by man in all history. Literally hundreds of millions rejoice and take pride in his successes.

Who more deserving of the "grand gold medal" of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale can there be?

It should prove a sweetly, solemn thought to a dying man that, while the government will take over a percentage of his estate by means of an inheritance tax, he will be hauled to his grave in a tax-free hearse.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, holding that present-day educational delinquencies are appalling, says that what a teacher needs is "a background of good manners, cultivated speech and high standards of appreciation in art and letters which always has bound together those of genuine educational insight and competence." Undoubtedly a background such as that would help a lot, but isn't the doctor expecting a lot for $30 a week, nine months only out of twelve?

Chinese anti-red soldiers shot down fourteen women and girls, alleging that they took them for communists because they wore bobbed hair. It would be interesting to know how often the members of that firing squad have been held up in barber shops by bobs.

A cable to Harvard observatory from La Plata, Argentina, says that Skjellerup's comet was so bright there Saturday that it was seen in broad daylight, which would make it the brightest comet of many decades. If there is any such visitor as that in the western sky it may well be worth taking a peek at this evening just after sundown, for it is now known that it reached its nearest point to the sun, Sunday night, and is on its way back into space.

Treatment for Asthma.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

This is an age when too many persons are resorting to drugs. It is an evil habit. It has but one end—disaster.

If you have pain, particularly recurring pain, or any other symptom which comes often, find the cause for it. Remove that cause, the pain disappears and you have not done something to encourage the development of a dangerous drug habit.

The trouble with men and women is that they walk into bad practices, not thinking or realizing what dangers await them. The desire to escape suffering blinds them to everything else.

"Dope" of every sort is dangerous. The pain-killing drugs are merely different forms of narcotic drugs. To use them is unwise. On your own account you should not take such medicines. You should not give them to others. It is only under the advise of a physician that a habit-forming drug should be used.

One of the ailments for which much self-prescribing is done, is that unsatisfactory disease—asthma. Temporary relief follows the use of a narcotic. In the long run the medicine is far worse than the disease.

In asthma there are attacks of suffocation. It seems impossible to catch the breath. Almost without warning the victim finds himself in a struggle for breath. A violent attack is terrifying to the patient. That is why he is willing to take any kind of medicine having in it the slightest hope of relief.

It is believed now that a "foreign protein" is responsible for the attack of asthma. This means that some food or other may be responsible for the symptoms. The food protein acts as a poison, causing swelling of the tissues in the breathing passageways.

To find out what food is to blame, inoculations are made, much as vaccination is performed, using one after another of the preparations. When one is found that causes redness and swelling of the seat of the inoculation, that may be considered as the particular foodstuff which is creating all the trouble.

It is indeed true that what is one man's food is another man's poison. White of egg, or fish, or oysters, or clams, or some other common food, may be capable of generating a lot of trouble in the system. Reaction to this particular food may be pronounced. When it is, we may be confident it is the offending substance.

The vaccination material is carefully prepared. The food substance is sterilized and there need be no fear that harm will result from the tests.

Of course, there are many disappointments in their use, but if a way can be found to control one case of asthma out of twenty, it is well worth while to make these skin tests. Your family doctor will tell you all about them.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

V. H. Q—What causes the veins in the legs to swell and cause small bumps?

A—This condition is probably due to varicose veins. Bandaging or wearing an elastic stocking is often effective, but in most cases, surgical procedure is necessary.

R. B. Q—Is it dangerous to visit a home where there is a tubercular patient? All necessary precautions and care are taken. What is the danger?

A—Not under the circumstances. The danger lies in the germs from the sputum.

L. C. Q—What will clear my complexion—during the hot weather I am troubled with pimples?

2—What will darken the eye lashes?

A—Careful diet and regular elimination should bring about results. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Try applying one per cent yellow oxide of mercury ointment; this will tend to increase the growth of the eyelashes and cause them to appear darker.—Copyright, 1927.

MAKING LIFE PLEASANT FOR CROOKS.

Judge Kerner, sitting in the criminal court, points out in an interview the notable difference that exists between the action of a judge who, holding open court for the discharge of his regular tasks, performs his constitutional duty of granting a writ of habeas corpus on an application duly made, and the convening of "special sessions in police courts and judges' homes at all hours of the day or night" for the purpose of granting habeas corpus writs. In his opinion special sessions of court for the issuance of such writs should not be held under any circumstances.

Surely, as Judge Kerner says, something is due to the law-abiding people of the community. They have a right to ask that judges do not respond with breakneck speed to every call for help issued on behalf of any crook or suspected crook who is eager to be extricated from the clutches of the police. That sort of thing emboldens criminals and tends to degrade judges to the contemptible position of criminals' lackeys. The passion for justice which—one may assume if one so chooses—sends a judge scurrying to the relief of a gunman or a gilded bootlegger late at night or at some other hour when courts are not regularly in session could be more convincingly demonstrated by an equal display of energy in promoting the effective prosecution of crime.

Some judges have indicated a readiness to hold court anywhere at any hour provided by so doing they can deliver an arrested suspect out of the hands of the police. Jackrabbit speed in shedding habeas corpus writs to brighten the lives of gangsters may be good for the gangsters but it tends to make a byword of the courts.—Chicago News.

THE AUTOMOBILE TAX REPEALED.

The house of representatives, in committee of the whole, has voted to repeal the excise tax on automobiles. The vote was close—166 to 142. The ways and means committee had favored a reduction of the tax from three to 1½ per cent., which would have reduced the income from this source from an estimated $60,000,000 to $38,000,000. A combination of Democrats and Michigan Republicans was largely instrumental in voting the abolition of the tax.

The present tendency in congress is to reduce taxes by reducing the number of persons taxed rather than the rates of taxation. The automobile tax is levied upon a considerable number of citizens who otherwise would have been virtually exempt from conscious payments of the treasury. It is well for citizens to know that they are contributing to the costs of government, even though the sum is small, and not onerous. That is the justification, in reality, for the tax on the smaller incomes. The cost of collection is relatively high, but the gain to the nation is measured in the increased interest in government which the payment of taxes can be counted upon to produce.

Twelve or fifteen years ago the repeal of the automobile tax would have been of benefit principally to the wealthy. Today the automobile tax is virtually the only direct or semi-direct federal tax paid by the farmers of the nation and thousands of small merchants and wage workers. The tax went far toward paying the government's share of the cost of federal aid roads. Its repeal will leave thousands of citizens without a stake in the government.—Chicago Tribune.

THE PATHOS OF INSURGENT MENTALITY.

Senate opposition to the confirmation of Dwight W. Morrow's nomination as ambassador to Mexico is a curious manifestation of insurgent mentality. Messrs. Harrison, of Mississippi, and Reed, of Missouri, are expected to lead a small group of Democrats and "Progressives" in an attempt to block confirmation on the ground that Mr. Morrow is an ex-member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Mr. Morrow's appointment met with almost universal approval. Democratic as well as Republican newspapers applauded it. It was a case of an exceptionally qualified man accepting a public mission out of sense of duty. Mr. Morrow has made a very favorable impression in Mexico, whose people are now enthusiastically welcoming Colonel Lindbergh.

Why, under these circumstances, should a few recalcitrants try to excite the public over a business association which twenty years ago might have been a handy thing for demagogy to play with but which is no longer available for such a purpose? The senate radicals forget nothing and learn nothing. Senator "Jim" Reed, Harrison and the La Follettcites simply disclose the fact that they still live under the spell of outworn political conceptions and phraseology. Their indignation is a pathetic survival.—New York Herald Tribune.

In another world conflict radio may become an amazing tool of war. Subtly directed current may pull ships out of their courses, draw them into the field of explosives or onto reefs. Electricity was used in the last war but little more than it had long been used in industry. In the next war the annihilation of whole fleets and forces of men may be accomplished by electricity and gas. Radio as a directing energy would have an enormous part to play.

It is said that the hope of peace lies in making war so terrible that it will last but a few days. A better hope of people would be at hand if there were more men with vision and imagination in the seats of the mighty.

Speaking of energy and power, the earth is so small it takes only half of one-billionth of the heat and power of the sun. The rest of the enormous amount of heat and light thrown off by the sun goes out into space. Perhaps it does a great work in worlds we know not of. We humans are so egotistic we think of the sun as existing for our comfort. The mere fraction of the sun's heat and light which falls on the earth is so small as to be hardly measurable.

BIRTH-GIFTS.

When I was born the Night came down
And in her black wings folded me;
Two stars were in her sapphire crown,
Her face was moonlit ivory;
And lowly in my ear she gave Gifts and commands I could not hear
But which are mine until the grave
Shuts all Night's whispers from my ear.

One star that glittered in her hair
Was white as women's skin is white
And fair as women's lips are fair
Under the magic of the Night;
The other star emitted rays
Black, only black—a secret fire,
Sensed, but not seen, by those whose gaze
Goes further than the eyes inquire.

Still shaded by Night's heavy wings
That shield and guide and strife and mar,
My mind indites and my [illegible]
Under the mandate of each star:
For the white star are verse, [illegible]
With passion and with beauty filled,
For the dark star are words [illegible] shot,
Or like the swinging [illegible] scythe.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 20—New York can no longer boast of showy vice dens as those which flourished twenty-five years ago—such as [illegible] McGlory's, Paresis hall, the French Madame, the Haymarket. The Doctor's and McGurk's Suicide hall. All have gone before the [illegible] of reform.

Harlem has a few cellar haunts of black-and-tan mixture where gin and "snow" perk up the jaded, but these are known only to [illegible] initiated slummers. The lower East Side also maintains a few dingy speakeasies where the "roll a lush"—that is rob a drunken customer.

But the days of hell-roaring wickedness have spent themselves. Scarlet ladies rarely parade the pavements. What vice is left for public display is gilded. It flourishes in the [illegible] tried elegance of night clubs and grand apartment-houses, cheek by jowl with respectability.

Nor has New York any celebrated bad men left, such as those illustrious sluggers—Brad Boru, Skinner Meehan, Hop-Along Peter and John Allen, who was for many years headlined as the wickedest man in the city. The razor-faced little gangsters with pistol silencers supplanted them.

The toughs of other days boasted of their prowess—they chewed off ears and fingers and preserved them in alcohol as trophies. The modern type has a patent leather face. He hides behind a cloak of respectability and is compassed in manicured nails and hair slicker.

There were many streets in the city, especially along the water-fronts, where the well-dressed stranger was almost certain to be [illegible] away with. He was, in the picturesque argot, "ash-panned." A bucket of ashes would descend upon him from an upstairs window.

And before he recovered from his surprise he was pounced upon, robbed and murdered and his body likely deposited in the river. Today New York is so efficiently policed that it is scarcely a mean-looking street that is not as safe as Times square at noon-day.

Practical jokes are always dangerous. The latest concerns a victim whose friends arranged a plot with a waiter at the cafe where he dined with his wife. The waiter remarked: "Where is the other lady this evening?" The management was indignantly appealed to and the waiter confessed he had been hired to perpetrate the pleasantry. But the suspicious wife was not appeased. All this happened months ago, and there is still a rift in the household.

Theatrical managers have their little subtleties. A show universally hailed as "a flop" first night critics carried a flaming banner over its entrance portals the next day, reading "Positively Limited to One Week's Engagement."

About ten years ago he was a waiter captain in an uptown hotel where I was living. He had a slight limp, which he explained was the result of a fall on the stage. Then he disappeared. In the last few years I have seen him frequently featured in musical revues and on the screen. I am certain he will not be embarrassed if I reveal he is Renoff, the classical dancer.

And I might add when I heard his story, typical New York fashion, I doubted him.

It seems almost everybody in New York who has amounted to much has touched bottom at least once before making the grade. We have poets who have cleaned cuspidors, leading ladies who cried "Cash" at basement counters, novelists who trudged in the breadlines, playwrights who slept on park benches, capitalists who swung picks, hotel magnates who were bell boys. And this strikes me as mighty fine, though it would be O K if a number of them didn't talk about it so much.

They have decided now not to build the new Metropolitan opera-house on Fifty-Seventh street, and one of the Mrs. Vanderbilts started a ruckus over the plan not to have boxes. It's all such a muddle I have reached the point where I don't even care who goes to the opera any more.—Copyright, 1927.

Imprints in Lava Beds.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

A visitor to Goose lake in the Columbia forest, Washington, might be startled to see imprinted in the lava rock bordering the shore of the lake, two hands and two feet. Probably he would rush to the authorities, believing that he had made an important archaeological discovery. But he would be disappointed to learn that everybody in the vicinity knows about the remarkable prints.

However, he might be interested in the legend, which, probably untrue for logical reasons, is certainly an explanation which the more romantic-minded might treasure. It seems that a certain Indian tribe rebelled against its chieftain, and, as a result of the rebellion, the daughter of the chief decided to kill herself. Accordingly, she climbed a high rock and jumped off, landing ungracefully on all fours, upon a bed of hot lava. The imprints were supposedly left by her hands and feet.

However, scientists scoff at the story on the reason that the moving lava would have swept away the prints. Furthermore, had the lava not been moving, an extremely unlikely fact, the outline of the rest of her body would have left its mark.

Nevertheless, although scientists can find no explanation for the foot-and-hand-prints, still they do admit that they were undeniably made by the same person, whoever he or she may have been.

FILM INDUSTRY OF BRITAIN IN BATTLE

Independent Exhibitors with 3,000 Theaters at War with Trust

London, Dec. 20—A state of war now exists in the British film industry. The two "armies" now facing each other are the independent exhibitors, representing probably 3,000 cinema owners, and a group made up of companies, controlling circuits of theaters, along with companies which combine the exhibition with film production.

It is the independents who have declared war.

They have drafted a plan whereby the independents, through a central organization, should hire their pictures by society and not as individuals. By the scheme they expect:

Preservation of capital already invested.

Securing of films at economic prices.

Participation of exhibitors in the normal development of the industry.

The reasons for this movement appear to be a fear that the wealty American film companies mean to buy or obtain control of many British cinemas, and a resentment of the position of Provincial Cinematograph Theaters, an organization which controls 110 movies in Britain. This organization is the most powerful theater chain in Britain, and for some time the independents have been considering a counter organization.

At the same time the independents dread the encroachment of the American film companies. Therefore a thrilling situation has been created by the statement made by A. Evans, managing director of the Provincial Cinematograph Theaters, that if the proposed new "National Circuit" becames a fact, he will at once sell the chain of theaters under his control to one or the other of American corporations who have already offered to buy.

One of the American companies mentioned in this respect has been the First National, who have, in turn, stated that they have no intention of buying British theaters.

Careful Campaign

If this "national circuit" is brought into being, then a film war involving millions of pounds will at once begin, and in it every great American company will be almost forced to take a hand.

The independents have considered their plan of campaign very fully, and, in addition to setting out in complete detail a common hiring scheme, under which the rentals of pictures would be lowered, they also mention the possibility of financing the building of studios, taking an interest in British production and in the purchase of the British rights of foreign films.

Such a course as the latter would certainly paralyze the entire film industry in Britain.

The Story of a Girl Who Tried To Cheat Love

BY GILBERT ROGERS

CHAPTER 22

ll, why—why do I do everything wrong? Everything?"

ally stood desolately on the lonely erm. In the distance was a black , already vanishing, the train—train with Jerry Evesham on board nishing from her.

d in front of her the drab little e station, the elderly agent going with his lanterns, a bundle of signals under his arm. Nothing except a road that looked sad and ed in the late afternoon light, and it fields and more fields.

Please—could you tell me—that is far back it is to Newport?"

Eleven miles, lady. Next train e next train didn't matter. Sally closed an eye, and studied the old . "Now I wonder what he'd do asked him to give me a ticket, lend the money?"

e gulped a little. Such a thin old —he wouldn't understand. But she well-dressed. She'd just say very ly and firm that . . . Just what d she say? He had locked the , and was walking away with slow, ful steps, an old man—all his life nd him— She must stop thinking ssly, she must speak to him . . . went around the back of the build-ally made up her mind, and fol- quickly. But not quickly enough had climbed into a small car that parked there, fumbled for the ch, jolted down the road in a cloud of dust. Now she was all alone.

Eleven miles. Well, she could walk. There'd be cars—lots of cars passing. It would be easy. "I'll be very particular about what kind of car I select." She laughed at the picture of hundreds of people begging her to accept a lift.

Twilight beginning to come down, a mournful twilight. Sally trudged ahead, thinking, worse still—trying not to think.

He had been cruel, he had said unforgivable things, but try as she would, it was not Jerry she was angry at. It was herself. She kicked the hard packed earth with one toe, kicked it furiously, remembering.

"Oh, I deserve to lose him! I deserve to lose him!" she whispered fiercely to herself. Jumping off the train like that, crazily, with far less reason than she had jumped on. Refusing to tell him just why she had been in Adrian Martin's house that night. He had a right to know. And out of mere perverseness she had refused to explain, demanding everything from him.

"If I think hard enough how sorry I am, if I think and try to tell him how I really feel, perhaps he'll get the message."

She frowned, beginning forgiveness of a man who was now miles away, who could not hear.

"I love you, Jerry," she said under her breath. "I love you! Don't leave me! Come back to me! I know I've been crazy, but I can't help it—it's because I love you, I'm so unfair to you."

Suppose he didn't come back, suppose she never saw him again! That would be a bitter price to pay for the gratification of one moment's impulsive anger!

Cars came past, all the cars that were to offer her lifts, and sped by without slowing up at all. She half turned toward each in succession, feeling that they must see she was tired. But when the sixth car had passed her, she realized she had to do something besides merely look exhausted. She'd hail the next one—why not?

A Ford came clattering over the brow of the hill behind her. She stood still and waved. A timid little mouselike man at the wheel threw her a timid little mouselike glance. A large, swollen woman at his side glared at her indignantly. A flash of glances and they were gone.

"Oh, dear," said Sally, "that's no good. There must be something very suspicious-looking about me. Now if there were only a house somewhere near, where perhaps I could telephone Carlotta . . ."

Standing there, trying to find a way out, she did not hear the big limousine that came purring down the hill, did not even hear it, as she took an uncertain step forward. . . .

Then it was too late. Someone screamed, brakes were suddenly applied. But the mudguard grazed her waist, hurled her about like a chip, sent her stumbling, swaying, down on her knees in the ditch.

"Oh!" She tried to get up. The car had stopped. The chauffeur was hurrying back.

"Hurt, Miss, hurt You—I didn't see you." He was helping her up. No, not hurt somehow, but shaken up, frightened by the sudden unexpected violence of the thing. And her clothes a wreck, torn, dusty, dishevelled.

The door of the limousine was swung open. A woman of middle-aged with intolerant eyes and a harsh voice was peering out at her. "It was your fault. You stepped right in front of us. We saw you . . ."

"Mother!" A girl in a black hat, looking very gentle and concerned, halted the older woman.

"Mabel, I tell you all these people—they'll pretend injuries, do anything to sue you if they think you've got money."

"But I'm not hurt," said Sally simply.

"Oh!" The middle-aged woman looked relieved. "Then—"

"But—" Sally hurried on desperately, as the chauffeur climbed back to his seat. "But—I wonder if—that is, if you're going my way—"

"Oh, of course!" The girl in the black hat smiled. Her mother said crossly

"We're going to Newport."

"Well—so am I—"

"Get in please. We're late."

Then, ignoring Sally as if she were a travelling-case, she began to conduct a conversation with her daughter. Sally liked the girl, liked her quiet voice and smile, her little attempts to include Sally in the conversation, which were ruthlessly ignored by her mother.

. . . my dear Mabel, they've nothing. I know perfectly well . . . last year in Switzerland, at Davos, they were positively put out of their hotel . . . But as for position—I really wish you'd be nicer to him . . . Instead, you treat him as if he—well you know what I think about that!"

"I know, mother."

The miles flew past. They came into crowded streets at last.

The middle-aged woman said sharply to Sally: "Do you live near here—is this all right?"

"Why—yes, if you've not going any farther. I live on Bellevue Avenue."

"Bellevue—?" She opened her mouth, stared hard, her eyes travelling over Sally's clothes. "Whereabout, may I ask?"

"I'm staying with Mrs. Beroke—Mrs. Ruthven Brooke."

"My dear, why didn't you say so right away!" The middle-aged woman's voice had become honey, her smile overflowed with blandness. "Why didn't you say so at once? Mrs. Brooke? Really! . . ." Effusively, she leaned nearer: Under her breath Sally was saying, "Snob, Snob!" and not listening . . .

The car turned into Mrs. Brooke's drive.

"Now you really must come and see us. I had no idea . . . What a fortunate meeting—so strange, wasn't it? I do hope you weren't hurt. Perhaps I'd better 'phone my doctor to come and see you. My chauffeur's fault absolutely. Now, do call, won't you? Mrs. Farrington is my name." The car moved softly away.

Mrs. Farrington! So this socially ambitious, unpleasant woman was Jerry's aunt! And that sweet-looking girl was his cousin. Of course she was in love with him. Wouldn't anybody be in love with Jerry, anybody who saw him twice?

She wondered why it was as she went into the house that she felt so suddenly depressed.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and get home best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

It is dark these days when I get up and let Jubilee down into the cold, wet snow. When I have put on my britches and other things and fixed the fires I have to light a lantern to go out and feed and milk the dummed brutes, all but the horse. The horse is not dumb enough to give milk or to be good to eat. When a cow is alive we make her give us milk, and when she can't give us any more milk we kill her and eat her and use her skin for shoes and her bones for collar buttons and her horns for combs, and her hoofs for gelatine which is the nervous stuff that wiggles off your spoon for desert.

When I was straining the milk I axed my mother who was the only one in the kitchen if she had a little girl about my size what she thought she would like for Christmas that would cost about a dollar. My mother said she thought a nice handkerchief would please Younise more than anything and I could get a nice one for a dollar. I told her boys don't think much of handkerchiefs, and she said girls do, and then she said: "You see, Thomas Aristides, girls don't have such long sleeves as boys do," and then she laughed like she had said something very funny. She went to carry the pancakes in and I swiped three pieces of bacon from the platter and stuffed them into my pants pocket for Jubilee while her back was turned. When she picked up the bacon platter and started to go in the dining room she looked at it kinda surprized, then she stopped and looked all around. Then she went in and put the platter on the table, but I could hear her saying something to herself. Anyone would think from the way a grown-up acts about a little cuts that they don't think a dog ought to live.

Just as me and the bunch were going out of the yard on the way to school a big squirrel ran up the tree in front of our house, and that was the first time we ever saw a squirrel outside of the country. We dropped our skates and slays and went up the tree as fast as we could go, so that pretty soon it was full of boys and one squirrel. I got out on the limb as far as I dasted that the squirrel was on. Feeble was standing underneath with her mouth wide open looking up when I shook the limb as hard as I could, and it looked like all the snow in the world fell on Feeble's face, and in it. She coughed snowballs all the way to school, after my ant had hollered at us and made us climb down and go to school and leave the squirrel alone. I think I will trap it.

I told Jubilee to stay and watch the squirrel but he went to school with me just the same. I played checkers with my grandfather till bedtime.

Uncertain How to Begin

I DID not know whether I was more annoyed or amused at Lillian's account of Katie's behavior during her interview with Mr. Verriteen upon the subject of the beach picnic which he had promised to give for Lillian, unaware that his old friend deliberately had managed things so that he had given the invitation. I knew my employer's fastidious taste and critical judgment and wondered if he would think I had been most remiss in disciplining my little maid during her years of service to me.

But amusement surely triumphed, and I laughed with real enjoyment at Lillian's vivid description to which she added a heartfelt word of praise for me.

"You sure were there with the intelligent co-operation, old dear," she said. "Didn't he dive beautifully into the fish crowd though? He hardly waited for the bait. I thought I'd pass out when you rolled your eyes at him and asked him if he'd ever attended a beach picnic. You're wasted in his historical research department, little one. You ought to ask him for the ingenue role in his next production."

"Don't talk nonsense," I said crossly. "I'm glad you will have your chance to study the people in your puzzle while they are spending the day at the beach, but I have a very special puzzle I'd like you to help me solve."

"Go ahead! Shoot!" she returned airily. "You've come to the right place, dearie. If I can only cut down my time thirty five minutes, I can beat the champion solver of cross word puzzles. I used to be a full hour behind her, but I'm gaining distinctly."

She shot a swift glance at me and as quickly changed her tone.

"I'll quit," she said. "Go on. Tell me what's bothering you."

"It's Miss Lincoln," I confessed. "What on earth shall I do with her when she comes for that first tutoring tomorrow?"

Lillian leaned forward in her chair and looked at me steadily.

"Are you stalling?" she said, or hasn't Phillip's real reason for sending her to you yet penetrated your dome?"

"I know what you told him," I said slowly, "and while he was talking the same thought had come to me. But thinking it over, it doesn't seem possible that——"

"Stop thinking it over then," she interrupted brusquely, "for it's not quite possible, but certain. Remember I know Phil Verriteen as well as if I'd fashioned him from the primeval clay. He doesn't care one continental-objurgation— what you teach the Lincoln damsel about the history of the drama so long as you manage to impress her with the general undesirability of it as a profession. How you're going to manage it, I don't know for you can swerve a homing bird to its nest, a magnet from its pole and all the other similies in the book more easily than you can cure a stage-struck girl of her ambition to act."

"I know it," I said miserably. "I haven't the slightest idea how to begin."

"Don't— for a while," Lillian advised sensibly. "Go at the thing at first exactly as I (Phil's plan to have her taught the history of the drama were a bona fide one. Then you'll have to watch for your opportunity to get in the deadly discouragement thing. And remember you haven't taken any contract to keep the girl off the stage. That will be Phil's job. Just do your best when you get the chance. That's all he can expect. And of course he'll never admit in so many words the real reason for this stunt of teaching her. Do I hear a motor? Don't tell me that young Jackson is coming to see Mary again today! He's staging as continuous a performance as Noel used to do."

ARE YOU a "TOXIC"

—then the Break-down!

No warning except perhaps a persistent tiredness—then a sudden breakdown and an "old man" overnight! That is the fate of many men today who live at the 20th century pace. One of the results of the killing pace is a weakening of the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver, "laying down," fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then an insidious poisoning of the system—toxemia—and a general undermining of health, with high blood pressure, kidney trouble, hardening of the arteries and premature old age.

If you would keep in A1 condition physicians say, keep the liver vigorous and active. Nothing better for this than a little ox gall. As the medical profession knows, ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the liver, building up its strength and activity. The genuine pure ox gall is to be had in dainty and tasteless form in Dioxol tablets. Each tablet represents 10 drops of pure ox gall and costs less than 2c. each, at good druggists. Be sure you get Dioxol, with the name and picture of an ox's head on the package.

FRANK SMITH HELD IN GALION

Prosecutor Claims Testimony Given Implicates Suspect in Robberies

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 20—Since an investigation of Prosecuting Attorney E. L. Myers of robberies allegedly committed during Saturday night and Sunday morning by Frank Smith, alias Frank Lee, 67, much trouble and excitement has been caused in the Union department store, post-office, Big Four depot, and County Treasury.

Prosecutor Myers stated yesterday afternoon that testimony given by Smith constituted verbal confession of the entrance of the four places. During the course of his night's wanderings, he knocked off the combinations of three safes with his simple but effective tools.

It seems that Smith slept at least a part of the night in the Big Four depot, which he later attempted to rob, and then entered the postoffice, the County Treasurer's office, and the Union store. Approximately $10 in silver was taken from cash registers at the latter place. He was taken into custody by nightwatchman J. R. Wilson while coming from the Union store with his booty. No other booty was discovered on him.

F. H. Scanland of the C. W. Hahn Safe Co. of Columbus spent yesterday afternoon in a futile attempt to gain entrance to the county vault. After all scientific methods had been unsuccessfully attempted, it was decided to burn through with an acetylene torch this morning.

Smith has not yet been disposed of. His entrances to the postoffice will be more fully proven if possible as there was nothing missing although stamps and money were accessible. He forced his way in through windows at the depot, court house and postoffice. He gained entrance to the store by breaking a glass door.

Cook sustained a dislocated shoulder and cuts and bruises about the body, according to attendants at the hospital.

The escape of the two from serious injuries and possibly death, is considered a miracle. The machine was wrecked and hurled to the side of the road, it was said.

The injured man was brought to this city aboard the passenger train which stopped after the crash. Members of the train crew cared for the wreck victims until Kenton was reached, and they were removed to the hospital.

Hen Owned by E. M. Routson Lays 163 Eggs in Year

Kenton, Dec. 20—Out of 13 poultry raisers in the western section of Hardin County, who enlisted in the movement to keep poultry records for the year, only three finished. Ten found the keeping of records for the 12 months more irksome than they had believed.

W. C. Englebardt with White Wyandots has shown that the all-wash method of feeding will give a good number of eggs and at the same time save a large amount of farm labor. His yearly record shows 151 eggs per hen.

Edgar McElwain, vocational agriculture instructor in the Ada High School, has completed the third consecutive year of records, with 195 in 1924-25, 194 in 1925-26 and only 187 for 1926-27. This year's decrease was believed due in part to parasites and roup during the winter of 1926.

DAMAGE SUIT GROWS OUT OF CAR LOTTERY

Woman Seeks $725 from John V. Pittman in Mt. Gilead Court

Mt. Gilead, Dec. 20—A damage suit has been filed in the court of common pleas by Lottie Levering against John V. Pittman for $725, which the plaintiff alleges due her for damages sustained in a lottery enterprise.

She alleges that John V. Pittman, a local shoe man, and many other merchants "entered into a scheme" this fall for furthering their sales by offering to purchasers, certain numbers which were to entitle them to one chance on a Chevrolet coupe to be given away on Hallowe'en night at a "festival."

She further claims that the terms of drawing were that nine numbers were taken from the huge wheel that contained all chances and that the ninth number was to be designated as the prize-winning number, and if the car were not claimed by 12:00 o'clock next day, it would be passed down to number eight, and so on down until a number was found that could be matched. She claims that Pittmann unlawfully took and claimed the machine, while she, the holder of number eight, was entitled to the car by law. She claims she has asked Pittman for the car, but he has refused to give it up. F. O Levering of Mt. Vernon is the attorney for the plaintiff.

OFFICIALS KEEP PLANS QUIET

Galion's Municipal Officers Working To Clear Books of Delinquencies

Galion, Dec. 20—Ralph Poth, former employe of the Citizens' National bank of this city has been appointed to temporarily fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Ed. C. Yochem, city bookkeeper and collector of the Electric Light and Water plants. Yochem's resignation was filed at the city hall Saturday noon and was made public yesterday. He has been in the service of the city since 1910 and has served in various positions during that time. At first, he was safety director, later was clerk of the service and safety department and then received the appointment of collector. Yochem's resignation is a part of the change in city affairs and management which follow the state examiners' report recently filed with State Auditor Tracy.

Shortly after the resignation was accepted, Poth was notified of his appointment for the position and will serve until another collector is named early in 1928. Poth is a graduate of G. H. S. of the class of 1923 and has worked as a member of the auditing staff at the Citizens' National bank since that time.

The work that is being done in regard to city affairs since the report caused a decided stir among citizens here, has been carried on quietly and announcements of future plans have not been made. City officials still refuse to comment but seem assured that a way will be found in which delinquent accounts for the light and water departments may be collected and that the city books may be cleared.

Suggestions For Oldtime Christmas Dinner Given

CHRISTMAS dinner is always the event of the day to grown-ups, the tree and filled stockings the joy of the youngsters. No matter how modern we may be, accustomed to apartment, restaurant or hotel life and the habit of "eating out," we crave the old-fashioned goodies at Christmas time. "Turkey and trimmings" mean Christmas and never seem quite as fascinating in town as they do in the country. However, we will give the old-fashioned menu and trust many housewives will make it come true even in restricted quarters.

MENU

Raw Oysters or Vegetable Soup
Fish in Season or Escalloped Oysters
Roast Turkey, Chicken Pie
Cranberry Sauce
Candied Sweet Potatoes, Boiled Onions, Mashed Turnip, Creamed Cauliflower, Hot Slaw, Celery, Salted Nuts, Sweet Pickles,
Pepper and Cheese Salad, Wafers
Plum Pudding, Coffee
Candies, Fruit and Nuts

Raw oysters or a relish may be preferred to the heartier soup preceding the old-fashioned meal. In the old days a boiled fish with drawn butter sauce figured, or the scalloped oysters. Today dainty fish rumekins may be used with scalloped lobster, crab or shrimp, stewed terrapin or curried chime.

Select a short thick bird, from ten to twelve pounds preferably. Remove the neck and make a French breast, have the sinews drawn from the legs to make them tender eating; singe, clean thoroughly, remove all pin feathers and scrub the bird with a little white soap and lukewarm water, rinsing well with cold water. Wipe dry and it is ready for the old-fashioned sage and onion stuffing. The breast may be filled with well-seasoned sausage meat mixed with just a few dry crumbs. When stuffed and trussed, brush over with a little butter and dust very lightly with pepper and salt. Now place in the roasting pan breast down, bracing in place with skewers. This sends the juices into the breast meat instead of away in the pan. Cook slowly; baste very frequently. The giblets may be parboiled and chopped for the gravy, or added to the stuffing, or they may be parboiled then browned in the pan with the bird. Turn the bird from the breast.

For the chicken pie have a young boiling fowl, or a pair depending on the size of the dinner party. Prepare as for a fricasee and cook into the broth. Add a minced onion, some minced celery, a half bud of garlic, a saltspoonful of curry powder, pepper and salt to the broth and cook for a half hour. Then thicken to the consistency of cold honey and strain. Line a deep yellow dish of good size with pie crust made with part butter and part lard for shortening. Arrange the meat in the pie, pour over the cooled gravy, put on the top crust having a vent cut in it. Finish the edge with the tines of a floured fork and bake in a medium oven from one hour to one and a half hours. Cover the crust if it browns too quickly. This pie is good hot or cold, when the gravy jells down richly. If liked, a few fresh mushrooms may be added to the pie before putting on the top crust.

The cranberry sauce should be made in the old way. Take a quart of firm berries and put in a saucepan covering them with cold water. Bring to boiling and cook until they are all soft. Then put them through the colander. Return to the saucepan and add two cupfuls of sugar. Cook gently until all is blended and cooked so it seems a bit thick, then turn into a dish to cool. This is sauce not a jelly.

Add a little honey to the candied sweet potatoes. Make a butter sauce for the onions. Cream the cauliflower and mash a little white potato with the yellow turnip.

For the salad use the pimento cups. Mash a cream cheese with a little heavy French dressing to soften and flavor it, form into balls and allow three to each cup with a little chopped celery, top with white mayonnaise, serve on lettuce leaves.

Mince pie or pumpkin may be substituted for the plum pudding if too troublesome to make it at home.

When men wore whiskers, no one could tell whether a man was good looking or not. If men's whiskers were handsome, why the men were; if not, not.

It is only men who have invented time. There is no time. It is infinity.

TITLE TO YARDS IS QUIETED IN COURT

Franklin County Judge Sustains Demurrer to Petition Filed at Columbus

Title of the Hocking Valley railroad to its Columbus yards, valued at more than a million dollars, is quieted as a result of the ruling of Judge John R. King, of the Franklin County courts, in sustaining a demurrer to a petition filed by Richard C. Barkman, a minor attacking the title.

Young Barkman, who resides in Pennsylvania, based his attack upon the property upon a proceeding held in Franklin County courts 16 years ago when a suit was filed to disentail the property of his grandfather, the late John Barkman. The latter, in his will probated in 1891, entailed the property so that it could not be disposed of by his heirs for some years after his death.

Extra Equipment

All railroads with lines through Marion will carry extra passenger equipment to take care of the increased business due to the Christmas season it was announced by railroad officials here today.

The extra equipment will include sleeping accommodations and day coaches.

An increase in passenger travel is already noticeable here, according to officials at the Union Depot. The increase is expected to reach a climax by Friday or Saturday night and will show a marked decline immediately after Christmas Day officials state.

Business College Cagers Keep First Place in League

Defeat Commercial-Osgood in Fast Game, 15 to 13; Hubers Win Second Game

Silk Mill-Tap and Die Combination Defeats Malleable Iron, 16 to 11; General Excavators Drop to Hubers, 17 to 12

By TOM BUCHANAN
Sports Editor of The Star

THE Business College basketball team stands in undisputed leadership of the Industrial league today. A 15 to 13 victory over the Commercial-Osgood leaves the M. B. C. the only undefeated team in the league.

The victory over the C-O combination was checked up in the opening game of the Industrial league session at the Star Auditorium last night. In other games Hubers defeated the General Excavators, 17 to 12 and Silk Mill-Tap and Die combination defeated the Malleable team, 16 to 11.

The victory for the business college gives the team three straight victories. The game last night did more than keep the team in the undefeated column. it proved that the team is one of the best, if not the best in the league. The Commercial-Osgood was previously undefeated and a week ago turned back the C., D. & M. cagers, 13 to 10.

Rally at Half

It was a rally in the last half that won for the Business College. At the end of the first half the score stood 7 to 4 with the B. C. in the short end.

With the exception of Conwell's two baskets the C-O failed to score from the field during the entire second half, while the entire Business College team, with one exception, netted field scores.

Atkinson scored six points for the Business College and was high scorer of the game. Penry's five were high for Commercial-Osgood.

The Gardner Tap and Die-Silk Mill combination won its first game since entering the league a week ago. The new comers led the entire distance and finished with a five point lead with the score at 16 to 11. W. Merchant, right forward, for the winners was high scorer with 10 points.

Huber made it two straight wins in a row last night by taking the General Excavators into camp. At the half the winners were leading nine to five and maintained the lead throughout the game. Leffler's seven points was high score for the game.

TWO CHAMPS NOW

National Boxing Association Recognizes Belanger as Flyweight Champ

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 20 — Frenchy Belanger, of this city, today is recognized as the flyweight champion of the world in states under the jurisdiction of the National Boxing Association. Belanger gained the right to the title vacated by Fidel La Barba by outpointing Ern Jarvis, of Cleveland, in a twelve-round bout here last night.

Belanger was floored in the eleventh round, but in the other sessions he was the aggressor and forced the Englishman to the ropes with a furious attack. Frenchy floored Jarvis in the first round. The Englishman fought back harder than ever, and by his rally in the eleventh round cut down Belanger's lead.

Belanger probably will be matched with Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized as champion by the New York State Athletic Commission.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

AT CHICAGO—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., junior lightweight, won the decision over Ray Miller, Chicago, (8).

Otto Van Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Ted Sandwina of Germany, (2).

Harry Forbes, Columbus bantamweight outpointed Georgie Rivers of Los Angeles, (6).

AT LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—Milton Mangano of New Orleans, won the judges' decision over Claude Wilson, of Birmingham, (10).

AT BUFFALO—Freddie Mueller, Buffalo, won decision over Spug Myers, Idaho, (10).

AT BOSTON—Hilario Martinez, Spanish lightweight champion, won decision over Billy Alger, Phoenix, Ariz., (10).

Pierre Gandon, France, won decision over Chester Sears, Boston, (10).

AT DETROIT—Bobby Garcia, Baltimore featherweight, scored technical knockout over Johnny Hill, Filipino, in eighth round.

Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino featherweight, outpointed Gaston Charles, of France (10).

NEW YORK—Jimmy McNamara, New York junior lightweight, won decision over Willie Hohn, Brooklyn, (6).

At Toronto—Frenchy Belanger, Toronto, won decision over Ernie Jarvis, of England, 12 rounds and will be recognized as flyweight champion of the world by the National Boxing Association.

At Philadelphia—Jack Zivic, Pittsburgh, won decision over Tommy Herman, Philadelphia (10).

Hubert Gillis, Belgium, won from Freddy Jackson, Philadelphia, (8).

At Columbus—Mickey Forkins, Columbus, won from Wolcott Langford, Chicago, negro middleweight champion (12).

Rickard May Wait, Belief, Until Saps Run Freely Before Springing Circuses

Looks Like Sharkey-Heeney Show May Go Out on "Old Carousel," Round and Around, Walsh Says: "Who Cares?" Popular Now

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—There appeared to be more than a possibility today that Tex Rickard would declare all bets sold to the rag man on his heavyweight circus this winter and, folding his tent like the Arabs, as silently take it on the flat of his feet out into the night until times are better and saps more plentiful. The sap is supposed to run better in the spring, anyhow, and it is figured that a guy like that might start running toward a box office, not knowing any better. Right now, he seems to be running home every night and the supposition is that he does it to save car fare.

Gate Is Weak

Anyhow, a lot of people appear to be turning up absent every time they have a boxing show in New York and so the good word is that Rickard simply won't tolerate it much longer. It takes plenty of money to pay off a heavyweight and, somehow, the boy friend has gotten out of the habit of using his own.

Therefore, they say he may call off his heavyweight program, or whatever may be left of it, until the outdoor season, meaning that the Sharkey-Heeney fight may be due for another ride on the old carousel—around and around. This fight was postponed some weeks ago because Sharkey injured the cuticle on one of his hands very severely. A recent bulletin from Boston carried the information that he had resumed training, which caused so much cheering that it could be heard distinctly in the next room. The idea all along has been that one postponement or several might be necessary before the populace could work itself up to the point where paying became a pleasure, a state of mind rarely achieved outside of the saloon that used to be on the corner and is now on the second floor rear behind a peep hole and a push button.

Warm up for Jack

At that, the Sharkey-Heeney affair becomes an outdoor shot in the event that the boys adhere to their present plan of tossing Dempsey in with Tunney again without further preamble. Tunney says he will be ready in June for that first championship fight he talks about and a natural smoke-up for that event would be a Sharkey-Heeney fight about five weeks in advance, thus getting the saps well exercised along the beaten track to the main entrance.

Rickard, of course, is not outlining his plans from a soap box at high noon. He has informally scheduled the Sharkey-Heeney fight for early in January and maybe he will see his way clear to go through with it then. But the chances are he won't: that is, not unless there is more local enthusiasm for the proceedings displayed.

The rumor now is that he intends to have the first ticket he sells for the fight framed in a bird's eye maple and hung proudly in a prominent place, exclusive of around his neck. However, that merely is an unsubstantiated rumor, speaking of which recalls the fact that many explain Sharkey's inability to attend the first party by declaring that he was completely ruined by Dempsey last summer and never will be quite the same. In some respects, this might be all for the best, at that.

Why do we always wish time to hasten? Is it because our anticipated pleasures are so superior to our actual ones?

JAKE OUT AHEAD

Schaeffer Leads Cochran 89 Points and Takes Cue First

New York, Dec. 20 — When Jake Schaeffer resumes play this afternoon in his challenge match with Welker Cochran for the world's championship at 18.2 balkline billiards, he will have an advantage of 89 points. Also he will have the advantage of first turn at the table for the resumption of an uncompleted run of 32, with which he finished the opening block last night.

The score of the initial session was 300 for Schaeffer to 211 for Cochran. Jake required 12 innings to complete his string, which gave him an average of 25 flat. The champion's average was 19 2-11.

Schaeffer furnished the high light of the opening block with a run of 148. Cochran's best run was a 66.

COUNTY SCHEDULE

The county church league basketball games scheduled for Thursday night are:

Intermediate league: 6:30, Epworth Methodist vs. Trinity Baptist.

7:25, Central Christian vs. Greenwood Evangelical.

Senior league: 8:00, Trinity Baptist vs. Calvary Evangelical.

8:45, Epworth M. E. vs. United Brethren.

9:25, Asbury M. E. vs. Waldo Lutheran.

The Central Christian senior team will play Agosta at Agosta at 8 o'clock.

There will be no games in the junior division Saturday afternoon.

Chicago Charity Bouts Are Disappointment for Fans

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 — The Chicago Christmas Charity Fund was $20,000 richer today after receiving the net profits from last night's boxing show at the Coliseum.

The show itself was a two-fold disappointment, first to the promoters who had expected an $80,000 gate instead of the $40,000 one, and secondly to 5,000 spectators who jeered and booed the time away while 14 alleged fighters milled through 50 rounds of boxing.

Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ill., junior lightweight, was awarded the decision over Ray Miller of Chicago in an eight-round event that was billed as the feature attraction. It was a very disappointing exhibition.

The highlight was Otto Von Porat's disposal of Ted Sandwina, the German heavyweight, in the second round of the scheduled eight-round semi-windup. The Norwegian had his European rival down for a three count in the first round.

Toss in Towel

Sandwina kissed the canvas twice again in the second round and was saving in at the knees for another collapse when his seconds tossed in the towel. They saw the futility of prolonging the agony. The German was game but he was no match for the hard-hitting Van Dorat. Devastating right crosses to the jaw scored for the Norwegian.

Little wonder the fans booed the windup performance after seeing a couple of giants hammer it out in two rounds. Dundee and Miller couldn't be coaxed into fighting. Dundee tried to fight, but the Chicagoan kept stalling and holding on.

Tony Mandell of Boston, substituting for Joey Sangor of Milwaukee, didn't have enough artillery for Benny "Kid" Carter of Phoenix, Arizona. At the end of eight rounds, in the course of which each fighter was on the floor for counts, Carter was given the decision. They weighed 126 pounds.

A fat man parading the beach in a red and orange bathing suit simply doesn't care that's all.

A long answer turneth away anybody else who was going to ask a question.

BOWLING RESULTS

Blum with a score of 202 was high scorer for women on the Y. M. C. A. alleys last week. Pat Gifford's 279 was high for men. High scores for the week set last night were 260 by Grogan and 189 by R. Burnett.

Grogan's 269 is also high score on the alleys this year.

Columbus Squad Has Good Record in Ohio Collegiate Circles; Bring Tall Squad

Fans Have Looked for Game Between Two Outfits for Long Time; Wes Griffin, Dairy Forward, Is Former Star of Bliss

TWO of the strongest non-collegiate and non-professional teams in Central Ohio will clash here Wednesday night when Bliss College meets Isaly Dairies on the Star auditorium floor.

The Dairies and Bliss games in the past have provided as good entertainment as any two teams in their class in Central Ohio and their meeting tonight should be up to standard. With a victory over Kenyon College last week to their credit the Dairies will try to avenge the defeats suffered earlier in the season.

Good Reputation

The Bliss team, in the last few years, has built up an enviable reputation in Ohio basketball circles, both collegiate and non-collegiate. Much of the team's success in the past three years was due to the shooting of Wes Griffin, now a Dairy forward who will perform against his former team tonight.

The game tonight is one that has been looked for by basketball fans for some time. On several occasions in the Central Ohio tournaments, staged at Columbus, the teams have come near to meeting in the finals but a reverse of one kind or another has prevented the clash.

Bliss will bring a team to Marion tonight that amazed Ohio colleges by winning 18 straight games during last year and so far this season. Ohio University recently stopped the winning streak on the Ohio court. This string of victories includes wins over Ohio Wesleyan, Detroit University, and John Carroll.

All five Bliss regulars are over six feet in height and three of them over six feet three.

GIFTS MEN APPRECIATE

Ensemble

The ensemble, or "blend," is the newest gift idea. It's really easy to explain: color harmony in haberdashery expresses it exactly. To blend with a man's suit we select shirt, tie, hosiery and handkerchiefs, for example: all with an inter-related theme of pattern and color. The result is an achievement in smart appearance. Let the ensemble help you solve your gift problem.

As Ritzy Rosey and Penelope saunter along on this Wintry day take a glance at the former's knee, which is encuffed with a band of the same fabric from which her suit is made. GAINED 9 POUNDS IN 3 WEEKS SINCE HE GOT KONJOLA

This Marion Citizen Tells How The New Medicine Restored His Health.

KONJOLA MAN TALKS

"Many modern people are just half-living," said The Konjola Man yesterday at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy here in Marion. "With disordered stomach, sluggish liver, weak kidneys and a clogged intestinal tract, a lot of men and women are in a weak, run-down, miserable condition. These people are not exactly sick, yet they are far from being well. They are only half-living.

"What these people need," continued the Konjola Man, "is to restore the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to better activity, so the food will digest properly and the system is cleansed of poisons. This will build up strength, produce new feelings of health and greater life energy."

Many Marion people are indorsing this new Konjola medicine for the glorious health it has brought to them. Just a few days ago, Mr. H. E. Martin, well-known Marion citizen, living at 504 Pearl St., this city, made the following statement about Konjola:

"For the last 3 years I have been dragging thru life, half-sick all the time," said Mr. Martin. "My weight was going down and my strength was dwindling away to almost nothing. I was subject to night sweats, which made me very weak in the mornings, and I was so nervous and jerky at nights that I couldn't get proper rest. I seemed to be going from bad to worse.

"Konjola helped my daughter, and so I decided to try this medicine myself. I have taken three bottles, and gained nine pounds in three weeks. My nerves are stronger and I sleep fine. I never have the night sweats like I used to and I am feeling better in every way than I have in years."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the whole inner-system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health thru this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

The Konjola Man is at the Stump & Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Adv.

Motor Stocks Make Brilliant Advances On Wall Street

WEAKNESS IN OIL ALSO SEEN

General Motors and Chrysler Lead in Move Upward in Motors

Markets at a Glance

New York, Dec. 20—Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks firm; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds firm; call money, four per cent; grain irregular; copper steady; oil firm; cotton steady; rubber steady, and foreign exchange steady.

New York, Dec. 20—Brilliant advances in the motor stocks and weakness in a few of the oil shares were the outstanding features of the stock market today. General Motors and Chrysler led the move in the motors, but the bears in the oils won an important advantage in the passing of the Pan American dividend, and the stock sold at the lowest price since 1921.

Strength and activity in the motor stocks were based on the same factors as have been operative in this section of the market in recent months. General Motors Corporation refused to confirm the rumors of downward price adjustments in the Chevrolet car, but bulls in the motor stocks confidently predicted a huge expansion in the output of the principal American motor car manufacturers in 1928.

A block of 18,000 shares of General Motors sold at 125, after the stock moved up confidently to new high prices for the movement. Chrysler gained nearly three points in a heavy turnover, and higher prices were quoted for Studebaker, Hupp, Hudson, Willys Overland, Mack Trucks and Nash.

Directors of the Pan American Petroleum Co. took no action on the quarterly dividend due at this time, and in an official statement, said that, while the dividend had been earned, it was thought wise to conserve cash for important new developments next year. Both classes of common stock declined 3 1-2 points to 10 1-4, and sold at the lowest prices since 1921.

Cotton

New York, Dec. 19—Cotton prices declined 10 to 15 points at the opening of this market today. December sold at 18.83, down 10; January 18.73, down 15; March 18.98, down 11; May 19.10, down 10 and July 19.11, down 11.

If you can get a man's moral support you can get his vote, though that isn't $10 for the campaign fund.

Doesn't a successful business man often yearn to tell an unsuccessful one what to do in order to get on?

Men are not counselled to "wear your rubbers" as they were when both sexes wore them.

That "back-seat driver" joke is now ready for the back seat.

Today in Marion Markets

TODAY'S REVIEW

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 20—Evening up in anticipation of the government report constituted the major portion of a dull trade in all the grains yesterday. Wheat opened lower but, meeting with little pressure, the market firmed and prices were higher at the close. Strength at Liverpool was an important factor in creating the firm undertone in the local market.

Short covering in the December featured the early trade in wheat. Offerings were light in this month's futures and prices rose until there was only 3c difference between December and May, when spreaders sold the near and bought in the distant future. Deliveries in December contracts were light at 142,000 bushels. Commission houses with Northwest connections were fair buyers of wheat.

Liverpool opened firm and higher and closed ⅝@1d up, considerably better than due. Their strength was attributed to the bullish aspect of weekly statistics, Buenos Aires was ¼ lower at mid-season. The trend of prices at Winnipeg was about parallel to the action on the local market and closing prices were ½@⅝ up.

Corn Lower Early

Corn was lower in the early trading under pressure due to increased receipts at southwestern points. Clear weather existing and forecast for the belt led to the belief that the movement would be enlarged further. Shorts became uneasy near the close because of the pending government report and corn prices bulged sharply. Visible supplies increased 900,000 bu, but Chicago stocks showed a slight decrease.

Trading in privileges after the close of the session indicated that opinion on the report was fairly well divided. Export indications were more promising, with bids from the Gulf nearer a working basis and sales of 25,000 bu. No. 2 mixed for export at Philadelphia. Cash trade was fair, with top grades meeting an excellent demand. Deliveries on December contracts totaled 175,000 bu.

Light Oats Trade

Oats encountered a dull trade, but held firm. There was some liquidation by local longs, with commission houses absorbing the offerings. The United States visible supply decreased 475,000 bu. with the total at 21,854,000 bu. or about 23,000,000 bu. less than a year ago.

MEN DENY CHARGES OF FORCED ENTRANCE

Postel and Gibson Hearings Set for This Afternoon in Municipal Court

Pleas of guilty to entering, but not breaking into an inhabited dwelling, were entered by Sam Postel and Mellin Gibson, when arraigned before Judge William R. Martin in municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of breaking into the home of W. W. Reading, Sharp-st, Friday night. Their hearings were set for this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and each one was held under $5,000 bond.

The two were captured by A. J. Berry, local manager of the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., and son-in-law of the Readings, who are in California, early Friday night after a burglar alarm which had been installed following a robbery several weeks ago, sounded at the Berry home.

Both men admitted being in the Reading home, but denied breaking in, claiming the house was not locked. Gibson, who gave his home as Columbus, has, the police say, served two terms of three years each, in the federal penitentiary. One on a charge under the white slave act and the other for breaking into a postoffice at Carrollton, O.

The circumstances which led to his serving time for white slavery, originated in this city. Chief of Police Thompson said today, when, in company with another man, he stole an automobile in this city and drove to Wheeling, W. Va., where they picked up two girls and drove to Baltimore, Md., where they were arrested. Efforts to bring them back here for trial on the automobile stealing charge, failed when the government charged them with white slavery.

FILE CHARGES AGAINST FOUR FILM OPERATORS

Dover, Dec. 20—Charges were to be filed in probate court here today against four Dover movie exhibitors for resuming operation of their shows last Sunday after police had placed them under arrest.

Those to be charged are Chester Huprich, Roscoe Siedell, George Chrest and Edward Allman. The new charges come as the latest move in the "blue law" controversy which has been raging here since Nov. 13, when George Chrest opened his two theaters declaring that they were no more a violation of the city ordinance against Sunday entertainments than restaurants, filling stations, and other business houses.

SOURCE OF POISON PEN NOTES REVEALED

Question Sanity of World War Veteran Held in Dayton

Dayton, Dec. 20—The source of a thousand or more "poison pen" letters, which have been written over a considerable period to prominent officers of the Veterans' Bureau and the national military homes, was believed to have been located here today following a preliminary examination as to the sanity of Oscar Wynne, 33.

Wynne admitted authorship of some of the letters. Most of the missives were couched in excellent grammar, but were of such a character as to violate the federal law against sending obscene matter through the mails. They were mailed at various times from Columbus, Newark, Zanesville, Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

In some of the letters, lives of officers of the national military homes were threatened, and a federal investigation has been under way for some time. Wynne claims to be a veteran of the World War, a graduat of Alexandria, Ohio, High School, and a former student at Denison University. He was disabled during the war, he says, and the Veterans Bureau gave him a "bad deal," he declares.

Harry Crow, another veteran, whom Wynne says helped him in writing the letters, was arrested some time ago in Alabama. His case is pending in the federal court at Cincinnati. Officials today were in doubt as to whether or not Wynne is sane.

TWO DIVORCE SUITS ARE FILED IN COURT

Wives Plaintiffs in Actions for Legal Separation. Alimony, Custody

Two suits for divorce, with wives as plaintiffs in both, were filed in the court of common pleas yesterday.

Iva M. Carter asks for a decree in an action started against Pearl Carter, in which she charges that he has failed to provide for her and their two children, aged three and two years, for more than a year.

Carter has refused to work for several years, the petition alleges. The couple were married July 9, 1923.

Through her attorney, H. E. Hill, the plaintiff asks for divorce, alimony and custody of the children.

Linnie Estella Bodman is plaintiff in the other suit, filed against Clarence L. Bodman. They were married Oct. 22, 1923, and have one child, a daughter three years old.

The plaintiff, through her attorney, H. E. Johnson, charges gross neglect and extreme cruelty. Her husband, she says, has been abusive and struck her frequently.

She seeks a divorce and custody of the child.

ARGUE ON APPEAL FROM BEN RUDNER

Counsel for Man Convicted in Mellett Murder Seek Prison Release

Columbus, Dec. 20—Oral argument was submitted before the Ohio Supreme Court here today relative to the appeal by counsel for Ben Rudner from action on the Stark County court which sentenced him to life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary following conviction of second degree murder in connection with the assassination of Don Mellett, Canton newspaper publisher.

After the conclusion of the argument the court took the case under advisement. There was no indication when the decision of the court will be announced.

Counsel for Rudner are seeking what they term "arrest of judgment" which if granted would release Rudner from the penitentiary. Argument in support of the appeal was made by Attorney E. L. Mills, counsel for Rudner. Prosecuting Attorney Henry Harter, Jr., argued against the appeal.

Mills contended that the verdict of second degree murder was illegal in view of the fact that Rudner was indicted for first degree murder. Mills also argued that the trial judge improperly charged the jury, permitting them to return a second degree verdict.

PROPOSED POWER PROBE FACES POSTPONEMENT

Washington, Dec. 20—The proposed senatorial investigation into the so-called electric power trust today faced postponement until well into the new year—if then—while the Interstate Commerce Committee debated its necessity.

Strenuous opposition to the inquiry, led by Republican leaders, blocked an immediate investigation by referring the resolution of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat of Montana, to the committee. The action of the Senate came as a surprise, due chiefly to unexpected opposition to the resolution among Democrats.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

Drink Water Freely and Often Also Take Salts if Back Hurts

When your kidneys hurt and your back frees sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.—Adv.

Meditations of a Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Does "It" Matter?

NOT every girl can have "IT." Be- cause "IT," like a sense of humor, or blue eyes, cannot be cultivated. You have to be born with it!

But there are lots of substitutes for "It," which the average man cannot dis- tinguish from the real thing; and one of these is a good, ready line of "pet names."

Any girl who knows just how, when and where to apply a tender nickname, can start a man's imagination working.

For instance, there is "Lamb-pie." Just what there is about this idiotic appellation, which goes straight to the softest spot in a man's heart and but- tons up the back, heaven only knows. But "Lamb-pie" or "Lamb" judiciously placed has such a "mothing" sound that it never fails.

Another favorite with coozy little girls is "Angel Face" or "Angel Cake." Young men look rather sick when you call them that—it is so gooey—but almost any man over forty can be melted by it.

"Handsome" is a sobriquet that has to be used carefully and skilfully. It will make a man tingle with pleasure if there is the slightest excuse for it. But if he has a face "that only a vegetarian could love" and a figure like that of a brass Buddha, naturally it makes him suspicious that you may be kidding him, and NO man can stand being kidded.

"Nice Man!" is always an effective and infallible appellation. You can use it on anybody from your lawyer or your butcher to your boss with telling results. It has a particular charm for sheiks and Don Juans—perhaps because they are NOT so nice.

* * *

The one perfect formula for begin- ning a note of thanks is "Dear Santa Claus." Santa Claus is every man's favorite role; and once you have elected him to that, he will wish he had sent you seven dozen roses instead of only two dozen, and a limousine instead of a cigarette holder.

* * *

"Prince Charming." If you are that kind of a girl, will inspire any man to propose to you within twenty-four hours, and make the fairy tale come true. Every man would like to be SOME woman's "Prince Charming."

* * *

"Big Boy," before it became so pop- ular and so commonplace, was an awfully safe bet. The "big" thrilled the young ones with a sense of master- fulness and made them want to patronize and "protect" you. And the "boy" gave the older ones hope that perhaps they WERE only as old as they felt.

* * *

"Darling," "Sweetie" and "Honey- boy" have passed into the discard with yesterday's seven thousand sentimental follies. But, the girl who can invent her own original line of "pet-names" and uses them with discretion and tell- ing effect, wont need any "IT" to make her popular.

GOLD LEAF IN LIQUOR MAKES ONE FEEL RICH

London, Dec. —Among the thou- sands of drinks—barrelled and bottled —at the Brewers' Exhibition in Lon- don, there is one calculated to make the onlooker feel rich.

It is a liquor called Eau d'Or. It contains gold leaf which floats about in small portions when the drink is de- canted. The purveyors declare it gives "that golden feeling."

Alongside it is a bottle of ginger wine. "Curious" remarked an expert, "how great a favorite ginger wine is at children's parties. But some parents would be surprised if they knew that this drink often contains five times as much alcohol as beer.

One feature of this exhibition is the enormous growth of popularity in tem- perance drinks. Another sign of the times is the advance in the cider trade. Cider is now declared to be almost the most popular drink in the country.

Section II. SERVICE CHARGE: $0.625 per month per kilowatt of maxi- mum demand established during "On- peak" hours.

$0.625 per month per kilowatt, in ad- dition to the above for each kilowatt of maximum demand as established during "On-peak hours."

The "on-peak" hours shall be those specified by The Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric Company (not ex- ceeding four hours per day) for the particular customer, from October 1st of one year until April 1st of the suc- ceeding year, and need not be the same hours during those months as may be specified for any other customer using the same rate. All other hours shall be known as "off-peak" hours.

The maximum demand shall be taken as the greatest rate per hour at which energy is supplied during any fifteen minute interval.

The maximum demand meter measu- uring the "off-peak" demand shall be set back to zero on April 1st and on October 1st of each year, and the "on- peak" demand meter shall be set back to zero every month. A demand hav- ing been once established during any of these periods shall not be reduced to any smaller value for the remainder of that period.

The records show- ing the total cost of coal delivered to the power company's bins, the quan- tity received, and the analysis thereof shall be open to the customer purchas- ing energy under this rate at any time during the regular business hours.

MINIMUM MONTHLY BILL: The minimum monthly bill shall be the service charge, but not less than such an amount per month throughout the contract term that will protect the in- vestment made by the company in ren- dering such service available to the customer.

Section III. FILING OF RATE SCHEDULE: The rate schedule herein set forth shall be filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Ohio in conformity with the law.

Section IV. The term "Company" whenever used herein shall be held to include the successors, assigns and lessees of The Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric Company and they shall likewise be bound by the terms and conditions of this ordinance.

Section V. This ordinance shall be and remain in full force and effect un- til January 31st, 1930.

ARREST BOY IN ACT OF TAKING AWAY CAR

Elmer White, 15, Tells Police He Was Too Tired To Walk Home

That he was tired and had taken the car merely as a comfortable means of getting home, was the laconic explanation given by Elmer White, 15 years of age, when he was caught at 10:30 last night, after he had attempted to drive away an automobile belonging to A. W. Somerlot, proprietor of the Short Line Grocery, W. Center-st.

Mr. Somerlot told the police he had parked his car on Holmes-pl early last night and when he returned at 10:30 o'clock found the machine occupied by a boy who had started the engine and was about ready to drive the machine away.

At the owner's approach the boy leaped from the machine and ran west on Holmes-pl cutting through to W. Center near the Overland garage, where he was captured by Mr. Somerlot. When taken to police headquarters, the boy told the police that he lived at 415 Mounds-st and had taken the car to ride home. He is also said to have admitted taking a car several nights ago which he abandoned after he had taken a ride. He was taken to the Bain Detention Home pending a hearing before Juvenile Judge L. B. McNeal.

The explanation given by the boy, is believed by Chief of Police Thompson to cover a large number of cases where cars are taken by joyriders. A boy doesn't feel inclined to walk or he has made the acquaintance of a girl and it not being convenient to take a street car, takes possession of the first car he can find that is not locked. Motorists who leave their cars unlocked, are, in the opinion of the police, almost entirely responsible for the number of cars taken by the thoughtless joyriders.

One successful attempt to appropriate a car for their own use was made by joyriders last night when they took an Essex coach belonging to E. B. Wendell, 839 Davidson-st, parked on E. Center-st near the Y. M. C. A. The car was later found near Garfield Park.

Well-Known Marion Citizen Rejoices

Remove the Poisons Which Cause Your Ailments and the Ailments Will Disappear

"For fifteen years I suffered so with rheumatic pains in my back, shoulders and other parts of the body that I often actually cried. I doctored and doctored here, there an almost everywhere, tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Hundreds of dollars in money and much valuable time was wasted to find relief," said Mr. Ben Zink, aged 50, one of the best known Marion building contractors and painters, residing at 465 Patterson-st. "My stomach and kidneys gave me more or less trouble, too. I had to get up frequently during the night. But, oh, my! what wonderful relief I found, after just a few treatments with the Sykodoner, which is causing so much excitement in Marion just now. I would never have believed that such quick relief was possible, from so simple a treatment. I cannot find words adequate enough to express my new found happiness. I feel like telling everybody about it. And why shouldn't I, when I know what it has done for me? I have told many others and shall continue to do so.

"A number of my friends are also using the Sykodoner, for their ills and pains. As also many others I have met: and without a single exception all I have talked to, say it is surely doing the work for them."

Regardless what your ailment is, or how long standing, do not give up until you have looked into this. You may ever after be very glad indeed you did so, same as many others now.
